A Trunk Or A Coffin

ers of Algeria already have made their peace with the FLN. These get from farmers who have paid regular protection money to the guerrillas, to a very few who actually have gone over to the rebel side. Jean Pierre Mondon, a 26-year-old school teacher from Constantine, is one of the latter. He made the switch in 1958, because in his hometown he was prevented from expressing sympathy for the Moslems. Now he is enrolled in the FLN and works as a school master in southern Tunisia. Another school teacher is Roger X, a downy-cheeked young paratrooper I met, who deserted because of the cruelties he witnessed.

Pierre Y, the fourth generation of a French settler family in Algeria, works right in the provisional government headquarters in Tunis, where he directs a major service. These have faith that there will be a place for former Frenchmen as well as native Algerians in an independent Algeria," he said. Because of his degree from Algiers University he is not worried about job competition with the Moslems. Nevertheless, he does not expect many of his former college mates to take the same plunge.

Pierre, in his early thirties, fluent and intelligent, affirmed that the nationalists so far have shown a complete lack of religious or racial feeling, which is one of the bugaboos frightening his former compatriots. As an example, he showed me his regular FLN identity card, which carries no infomation of national origin or religious affiliation. French ID cards, by contrast, until recently labelled the Algerian Arabs as "Indigene" (native), before they were changed to the current "Français Musulman" (French Moslem).

Many settlers, searching nervously for a hint of their possible fate, look to recently independent Tunisia and Morocco, although the analogy is not exact.

Just before Tunisian independence was recognized in March, 1956, a census showed 255,000 European settlers (including 67,000 Italians). At the beginning of 1961, it was authoritatively estimated that only 110,000 were left (including 47,000 Italians). The French ranks had shrunk from 180,000 to 65,000. In Morocco, more than 100,000 French residents have departed of the 350,000 there on independence day.

These sobering statistics omit one important factor. Contrary to the Algerian plan, Tunisia and Morocco never offered to extend their citizenship to the Europeans, and subsequently have clamped down on them as "foreigners."

Kennedy Budget

documenting Kennedy's pledge — made in his State of the Union message—that his programs would not unbalance the budget "of and by themselves."

"It is my determined purpose to be a prudent steward of the public funds—to obtain a dollar's worth of results for every dollar we spend," the President said.

BUDGETS AT A GLANCE

(By United Press International)

President Kennedy's budget figures and those of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in billions of dollars:

Fiscal 1961	Eisenhower Jan. 1960	Kennedy Jan. 1961
Receipts	84	79	78.5
Expenditures	79.8	78.9	80.7
Difference	4.2	0.1	—2.2

Fiscal 1962	Eisenhower Jan. 1961	Kennedy
Receipts	82.3	81.4
Expenditures	80.9	83.2
Difference	1.4	—1.8

Kennedy's budget figures for 1962 do not include an unspecified additional sum for defense he is expected to request next week.

The biggest increases from Eisenhower's budget asked by Kennedy were these:

Agriculture Department, 478 million more; Commerce, $48 million, mostly for aid to depressed areas; aid to education $500 million; aid to children of jobless workers, $215 million; temporary jobless pay, $440 million, space projects, $85 million.

O'Seas School Jamboree Date Fixed For May 20

THE ANNUAL OVERSEAS SCHOOL JAMBOREE, a spring fixture in Rome which combines the excitement of a country fair, the lure of a bazaar, and the pleasant pandemonium of a playground, will be held this year on Saturday, May 20.

As usual, it will be held on the school grounds at 811 Via Cassia, at the 10-kilometer post, it was announced yesterday by Mrs Donald Ritter, chairman of the 1961 affair. Mrs Ritter also announced that the first organizational meeting of the Jamboree will be held next Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock at the Overseas School.

At that time, committees will be established for the many attractions which have become annual features of the Jamboree.

Happy Birthday . . .

. . . today to industrialist-art collector Riccardo Gualino . . . to Lt. Col. Edward J. Casey Jr., of SETAF's engineer division . . . to Rev. Cassian Corcoran of the new American Franciscan House . . . to Paul B. Daly, post comptroller of Vicenza Military Post . . . to American artist Jack Frankfurter . . . and to Mrs Thomas H. Karamessiness, wife of the U.S. Embassy attaché.

Tiber Topics

The International Youth Council's campaign for 500,000 lire to finance its 1961 program has gone over the top, Mrs Henry J. Fleck, Council chairman, announced yesterday. She reported additional contributions from Mr and Mrs Marty Garrison, Amedeo Cacace, Cmdr. and Mrs Karl Imholte, L. K. Thorne Jr., Coca-Cola Export Corp., Col. and Mrs Bingham Kleine, Salvador Patino, the Military Enlisted Wives Club of Rome, and the Reserve Officers Association of Rome . . . British author Cecil Roberts, who has some 36 books to his credit (including the popular "And So to Rome"), will leave Rome's Grand Hotel this weekend for his villa in Alassio — the Riviera town of which he is an honorary citizen. Two months ago Roberts' collected poems were published in London with a preface by Lord Burkett, former Lord Chief Justice of England . . . Vincent Bruno, the American artist, is back in Rome from a trip through Greece and Turkey, where he visited archeological sites and museums in Corfu, the Peloponnesus, Thessaly, Macedonia, Athens and Istanbul. But he'll be off again in a few days for a trip from Genoa to Spain in a 38-foot yawl, the Dolphin, owned by Mr and Mrs Vincent S. R. Brandt of Newport, R.I. While the Brandts will continue in their boat across the Atlantic, Bruno will return to his Rome studio about the end of April . . . Mr and Mrs D. A. Distler — he is director of the Association of American Colleges — are off to Florence to continue a study tour of university administration. Their trip will take in most of the European countries, including the Scandinavian ones . . . Paul Collaer, honorary musical director of the Belgian National Institute of Radiodiffusion, will speak on "Sicilian Music and Mediterranean Culture" (with musical illustrations), at the Sala Accademica on Via del Greci this afternoon at 6.

Art Notes

Oils, drawings and watercolors by Hedda Sterne are the current attraction at Irene Brin's and Gaspero Del Corso's Obelisco Gallery on Via Sistina. Born in Bucharest, Miss Sterne studied in Vienna and Paris, went to the States in 1941 and has since exhibited in various important galleries, including the Betty Parsons Gallery in New York and the Arts Club of Chicago, as well as at the Venice Biennial of 1956. She is married to the New Yorker magazines' famous humorist-in-line, Saul Steinberg . . . a new name among Roman artists — young, self-taught Bruno Roscioli — will have his first major exhibit at the Galleria Russo on Piazza di Spagna, opening Monday. Roscioli's subjects include such well-known Italian sites as the Pantheon, the Piazza di Spagna and the Piazza del Popolo in Rome and the Salute Church in Venice . . . La Bottega, the new Trastevere art gallery (it's located on Piazza G. G. Belli), has opened a showing of works by Gilberto Filibeck . . . the Medusa Gallery on Via del Babuino will open shortly after Easter (actually, on April 5) the first Roman show of Milwaukee-born artist Juanita Préval Piccoli, who has worked at the celebrated McDowell Colony at Petersborough, N. H., and is currently a resident of Rome and Anticoli Corrado . . . a four-man show, entitled "Homage to Nature," and representing works by Antonio Amore, Gustavo Solimene, Enzo Roberti and Francesco Tulli, will run until April 1 at the Circolo Sabino, 38 Via Massaciuccoli.

Non-Hungry Lions

Director Richard Fleischer can claim a "first" for a spectacle film about the early Christian era. The lions in arena sequences for Dino De Laurentiis' $10,000,000 production "Barabbas," will not eat Christians.

"I'm not only tired of such scenes," says the director, "but I have always thought them revolting. Our arena scenes will feature lions, but only in battle with armed gladiators, not with helpless Christians."

"Barabbas," starring Anthony Quinn and Silvana Mangano and a cast of thousands, is being filmed in Technirama and Technicolor, with Columbia releasing.

Leghorn News

Three ministers of Italian congregations will assist in presenting Protestant services at Camp Darby during Easter week. The Rev. Robert McConnell, director of the Commandi Institute in Florence, will address the Protestant congregation on Monday evening. Pastor Piero Bensi of Florence's Evangelical Baptism Church will be speaker Tuesday evening and on Wednesday, the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Victor Stanley, rector of the American Episcopal Church.

AT THIS WEEK'S initial luncheon of the Fulbright Association and the American Field Service, held at Rome's Claridge Hotel, one of the speakers was Francesco Arcà, president of the Rome Fulbright Association. At his right in the photo is Raffaele Oriani, vice president; on the other side are Dr. Palma Bucarelli, director of Rome's National Gallery of Modern Art, and famous art critic Lionello Venturi.

Large Etruscan Tomb Discovered

CERVETERI, Italy, March 24 (AP) — Archeologists have made what they consider an exceptionally rich find in this area where the Etruscans lived 2,500 years ago.

It is a large, buried tomb — the 610th dug up near the ancient Etruscan city of Caere, but one of the very few with a complete array of funeral objects inside.

The site is 30 miles north of Rome.

Almost 50 well-preserved pieces were found in the three-chamber tomb, including amphoras and vases decorated in typical Etruscan red-and-black designs.

The rectangular-shaped main chamber of the tomb resembles an Etruscan room. Attached to the side walls are two stone funeral beds.

Two doors lead from the main chamber to two smaller chambers, which have small windows opening on the main chamber. The smaller chambers also resemble rooms of an Etruscan house.

Sacred Music Project For Missions Organized

A NEW DEPARTMENT TO FOSTER SACRED MUSIC in mission lands is being organized by the Pontifical Institute of Sacred Music, Msgr. Igino Angles, the institute's president, has announced.

Director of the new "Department of Music in the Missions" is the Rev. Michael Konz, a Divine Word missionary and composer who hails from Trier, Germany, and who was recently called to Rome from Buenos Aires.

"Every land and every people has its own distinctive type of religious music," Konz said, "and it will be our task to foster its study among missionaries and to assist missionaries with practical suggestions and advice on how they can adapt this music for use in liturgical functions."

As the program gets under way each mission bishop will have a special training center for giving proper instruction in Gregorian chant and such local religious music as is suitable for the service of divine worship. Konz said his department will supply these centers with records and record players, tapes and new recorders, so that people in mission lands will be able to hear and appreciate the liturgical singing of outstanding church choirs like the Benedictines of Solesmes and the Sistine Choir.

In turn the directors of mission centers will send us tape recordings of the religious songs and music peculiar to their people, so that these can be studied, appreciated and possibly even transmitted by Vatican Radio," Konz said.

In Argentina, where the musician-composer has been stationed for 20 years, he has published numerous Spanish hymnals and other works now used throughout Central and South America.

Happy Birthday . . .

. . . today to Mrs Sherman R. IN HER ROMAN STUDIO — New York artist Juanita Prèval Piccoli poses with some of the canvases that will be exhibited, starting Wednesday, at La Medusa Gallery, 124 Via del Babuino. Mrs Piccoli recently was awarded first prize for foreign participants at Viareggio's Concorso Nazionale di Pittura. Carlo Levi has written the introduction to the catalogue of her forthcoming show. In addition to her artistic activities, she has found time to tape her impressions of a recent tour of Sicily for transmission on New York radio station WOM.

Beirut Canteen Chairmen Cited By U.S. Navy

(Special to the Daily American)

BEIRUT, April 1 — At a recent meeting of the Beirut Propellor Club, Mr and Mrs G. H. Gossens, co-chairmen of the Beirut Navy Canteen, were honored by the U.S. Navy in recognition of their services to the Navy in the "field of morale, welfare and community relations." Vice Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., commander of the U.S. Sixth Fleet, presented Mr and Mrs Gossens with a Meritorious Service Citation, signed by the U.S. Secretary of the Navy, in appreciation of their "valuable and patriotic services."

The Gossens organized the first canteen for the U.S. Navy in Beirut in 1952 and since that time, during more than 20 fleet visits, have been its guiding spirits. The canteen is run on a voluntary basis by members of the American community in Beirut. It provides a place where the men of the fleet may relax during the busy periods of shopping and sightseeing when the ships call at Beirut.

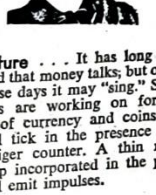

Gossens, on the Beirut staff of Tapline, is retiring this year from his job as superintendant of purchasing. The canteen operation henceforth will be assumed by the Propeller Club, an organization of American businessmen in Beirut—so the Navy boys will find their doughnuts and dancing partners still at the canteen on their next visit to Beirut, even though their old friends the Gossens will be gone.

If you have any news for "Lend Me Your Ears" about your of your friends' parties, social gatherings, arrivals, departures, engagements, marriages, etc., please telephone Rome: 587.115 between 1 and 4 p.m. or write to 8 Via Dandolo, Rome, Italy. Information about birthdays should be written in or phoned in at least three days in advance.

ASTRO GUIDE * By Cecan

For Sunday, April 2

Present—For You and Yours . . . Have everything handy that you need for church so you won't have to "race your motor" at the last minute. Keep thoughts and actions on a high spiritual plane. Put aside petty matters and concentrate on enjoying good fellowship. Take an active part in church affairs—don't just sit there!

Past . . . According to the latest figures, more than 130 cities in the United States now have populations of 100,000 or more. Ten years ago there were only 107!

Future . . . It has long been said that money talks; but one of these days it may "sing." Scientists are working on forgery-proof currency and coins that will tick in the presence of a Geiger counter. A thin metal strip incorporated in the paper will emit impulses.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) This is the time to ask for a favor if you need one. People are sympathetic.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Better not stick your neck out too far in new matters regarding finances.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Start the day right by attending church even though you're tempted to play hooky.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) Avoid interfering in other people's business even if you have the answer.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) One wrong move could harm you as well as someone else who is involved.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If entertaining at home, keep it simple to minimize clean-up afterward.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do a little more than is expected and you'll be surprised at results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't blow up over minor irritations; watch your blood pressure!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take the family for dinner and a drive and give Mom a deserved day of rest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make this a real day of good fellowship and harmony within the family.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Overcome slight obstacles and plunge right ahead with your original plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Wind up affairs early in order to get a head start on homeward traffic.

RIDDLE OF THE "MISSING" KNITWEAR

Why is that you can buy perfectly beautiful Italian wool knitwear in America — then when you come to Italy you can't find any? Or you can find it — but it doesn't fit the American figure, and chances are, the styles aren't the kind you are accustomed to either? The reason is, the Italian knitwear which you buy in America is made in Italy especially for export consumption — according to American sizes, and in styles most wearable by Americans.

ALBERTO IMPORTS, a branch of the ALBERT ALFUS firm in New York, famous for their leather coats, has a showroom in Rome at 16 PIAZZA IN LUCINA where you can buy Italian knitwear as you like it — American sizes and models, with Italian workmanship at wholesale prices.

The three-piece suits are especially attractive — a pull-over and skirt topped by a cardigan or jacket — and their one-piece knit dresses are very light and easy-to-wear. The size range runs from 8 to 16.

The ALBERTO IMPORTS line is sold in over 800 of the best shops across the U.S.

Obituaries

LONDON, April 4 (AP) — Admiral Sir Cyril Eustace Douglas-Pennant, 66, one of Britain's top planners of military and naval operations, died yesterday in his London home.

In 1943 he was chief of staff of Britain's eastern task force in the Mediterranean and took a major part in planning the Allied landings in Sicily.

He also contributed largely to the planning of the Allied landings in Normandy.

After the war he was attached to the British Joint Services Mission in Washington. At his retirement in 1950 he was commander-in-chief of the British naval command in home waters.

NEW YORK, April 4 (UPI) — George Choos, 82, retired theatrical producer who made his first fortune selling picture postcards, died yesterday in a hospital.

the huge harbor of Dakar.

Johnson was loudly cheered when his auto drove up to the reviewing stand before the start of the parade. Johnson got out and shook hands with Senghor before taking his place in the section reserved for heads of state and foreign representatives.

Johnson conferred at length last night with Malik. The two men, who talked with the help of interpreters and aides, refused later to say anything about what had been discussed.

The conference took place at an Independence celebration party given by Premier Mamadou Dia at the Justice Ministry.

It was not known which of the two had asked for the talk or if it was an impromptu conference arising out of a chance meeting at the party. Malik was asked earlier yesterday if he planned to talk with Johnson and replied, "I suppose we'll bump into one another at one of these crowded receptions."

However, at a presidential reception given yesterday morning the two men apparently avoided one another, although at one point they were standing only a few feet apart.

Vatican Would Extend Warm Welcome If President Makes Visit To Rome

VATICAN CITY, April 4 (UPI) — President Kennedy would receive a "very warm" welcome here as the first Catholic chief executive of the United States should he decide to extend his Paris visit next month, Vatican sources said.

News from Palm Beach that Kennedy will visit France next month immediately started speculation here that the President might prolong his European visit to Rome and the Vatican.

The last American President in office to visit Rome and the Vatican was Dwight D. Eisenhower. He came in December of 1959 on an 11-nation peace mission.

Eisenhower met with Pope John in a 25 minute private audience and said he was "inspired by his (the Pope's) approval of the efforts that the free nations together are making to bring some progress towards peace."

The Vatican, during the U.S. election campaign, maintained a discreet silence on the issue of Kennedy's Catholicism and its bearing on the voting.

Pope John later sent a cable to Kennedy following his inauguration, congratulating the American on his assumption of office and his first address.

Italy's Political Sparks To Fly On Television

(By United Press International)

Political debates among Communists, Democrats and Fascists will soon return to Italian television screens as a permanent program after a first and highly successful experiment last year.

Political sources said Premier Aminitore Fanfani and leaders of the middle-road parties had agreed in principle to start the weekly "Political Tribune" programs sometime this month, possibly April 12.

The state-owned TV network first opened its screens to inter-party debate during the campaign for the nation-wide local elections last November. Leaders of each of Italy's eight parties, including the Communists and neo-Fascist, came under crossfire by newsmen at press conferences.

The program was a hit. People spoke about it in homes, offices and bars. A survey of viewers gave the program a popularity rating only little below that of the most successful quiz shows.

Although the Communists hailed their admission to the programs as a triumph, polls indicated that neither they nor the Fascists fared too well. A majority of viewers felt that Red Party boss Palmiro Togliatti proved clever but was obviously embarrassed by some questions about liberties behind the Iron Curtain.

The new and permanent version of the program is scheduled to include press conferences, interviews and debates on a variety of current issues.

Each installment will last 30 to 40 minutes and will be transmitted after the evening news program.

Hammarskjold's activities, Sobolev charged, were part of the same policy of "betrayal of the African people" as that which "led to the events in the Congo."

Ambassador Alex Quison-Sackey of Ghana declared that apartheid was a "disease . . . a canker worm infesting South Africa" and asserted it should not be allowed to continue.

Many delegations, he said, felt this was the time for decisive measures, and thus he was presenting the 25-nation resolution calling for a worldwide boycott against the Union government.

Quison-Sackey said the sponsors wanted priority in voting over the rival resolution put in by India.

Reds Claim Discovery Of Ocean Mountains

MOSCOW, April 4 (UPI) — Soviet oceanographers have discovered several unknown mountains rising from the bed of the Indian Ocean, Tass said today.

The official Soviet news agency said the discoveries were made by an expedition aboard the vessel Vityaz in the area of the Java Trench, which runs along Sumatra, Java and other islands.

UN Personnel In Katanga Eat C-Rations

ELISABETHVILLE, April 7 (AP) —United Nations personnel in Elisabethville have little fresh food left as a result of the Katanga government's instructions to local traders to boycott the United Nations, a UN spokesman reported today.

He told newsmen, who questioned him about the boycott situation, that some 1,000 civil and military UN staff in the city were depending today "on our own supplies and on C-rations."

The spokesman said there had been no deliveries of bread and other essential fresh foods "for several days now."

Referring to other sanctions ordered against the UN by the Katanga government he said "some sanctions have been lifted, others have not. There is no set pattern."

Three days ago Katanga's President Moise Tshombé personally assured the UN Congo military chief, Gen. Sean McKeown, that all sanctions — including general sabotage and boycotts of UN personnel would be lifted immediately.

Water and electric power, switched off for two days, has now been returned to most UN establishments.

Telephones have been reconnected in the UN headquarters.

But shops and restaurants are refusing to serve UN troops with such items as cigarettes and soft drinks and they are not allowed admittance to any of Elisabethville's hotels.

AF Stunt Leader Dies In Jet Crash

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 7 (UPI) —Maj. Robert S. Fitzgerald, leader of the Air Force Thunderbird stunt team that performs just 15 inches apart, was killed yesterday when his jet fighter crashed while he was watching other pilots perform their supersonic acrobatics.

Capt. George A. Nial,, 31, also a pilot, died with Fitzgerald in the crash of the F-100F fighter plane.

Fitzgerald, 38, who usually flew all practices with the four-plane team, had stayed out yesterday to explain to Nial just what the globe-trotting Thunderbirds were doing in their daredevil routines.

QUESTIONED — Spade Cooley, musician and former radio-TV star, walks through sheriff substation in Mojave, Calif., where he was questioned about the death of his estranged wife, Ella Mae, in nearby Techacapi. She was found beaten to death at the couple's luxurious ranch home. (AP photo)

OBITUARY

Jules Bordet, 91, Dies In Brussels

BRUSSELS, April 7 (AP)—Prof. Jules Bordet, 91, 1919 Nobel Prize winner, died at his home here yesterday afternoon.

He was born in Soignies, Belgium, in 1870 and became one of the great medical scientific minds of his generation.

He studied at the Brussels Free University and started his career at the Pasteur Institute in Paris in 1894. In 1901, he became head of the Brussels Pasteur Institute, a position he occupied until 1940.

He was a professor at the Brussels University from 1907 to 1935, a member of various Belgian medical groups and a doctor honoris causa in several foreign universities.

His scientific work was mainly devoted to the study of microbiology and of the reactions of the human organism toward the microbes.

He discovered the microbe of the whooping cough, the haemolytic serums, and made special studies of the mechanism of blood coagulation.

He gave his name, together with another scientist, to a test to diagnose syphilis, the Bordet-Wasser man test.

Five Arrested In Newspaper Theft

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Five men were arrested today in connection with yesterday's $63,000 robbery at a Brooklyn plant of the New York Daily News, America's largest circulation newspaper.

Police said $58,000 was recovered. The money was taken shortly before noon when three men kidnaped a cashier in nearby Levittown, L. I., and took his key to gain entrance to the cashier's cage.

LEND ME YOUR EARS:

Queen's Roman Art To Be Seen During Stay

COINCIDING WITH THE OFFICIAL VISIT to Italy of Queen Elizabeth II, an exhibition has been arranged at the Palazzo Venezia in Rome for three weeks starting in the second half of April, of Roman drawings by artists of the 17th century from the Royal Library of Windsor Castle. The exhibition has been arranged by Miss H. Scott-Elliott, curator of drawings and prints in the Windsor Castle Library, under the guidance of the superintendent of Royal Collections, Sir Anthony Blunt.

No more suitable place or moment could have been chosen for this exhibit of Roman drawings which are partly by Roman artists or by artists who worked in Rome. It gives a clear idea of the treasures which the discernment and enthusiasm of British sovereigns have collected at Windsor since the time of Charles I.

The exhibit includes sketches by Annibale Carracci for the Farnese Gallery such as "Nudo Virile," "Studio per due Guerrieri di Perseo" and the "Coppia di Atlanti." There are also drawings by Del Domenichino which formed part of the Maratta collection acquired by Pope Clement XI and sold to George III of England by Cardinal Albani in 1762.

Included also are sketches by Bernini, Pietro da Cortona, Sassoferrato and Giovanni Benedetto Castiglione.

Happy Birthday . . .

. . . today to both American sculptor Robert Cook and his wife Joan Marble Cook . . . to Mrs Allan Jacks, wife of the head of Associated Press' Rome office . . . to jewelry designer Alla Kent . . . to Mrs Anna White Johnson, mother-in-law of Col. Charles R. Etzler, Army chief of MAAG . . . to architect Giuseppe Samonà . . . and to Italian artist Giorgio Scalco.

Roman Doings

St. Paul's American Protestant Church in Rome has announced the newly elected officers of the vestry, who are Thomas C. Quackenboss, senior warden; Thomas H. Lydon, junior warden; E. Reginald Perkins, treasurer; and Charles T. Tidball, secretary . . . another St. Paul's news item is that the Ret. Rev. R. A. Kirchhoffer, retired Bishop of Indianapolis, will conduct tomorrow's regular services . . . AWAR note: the next meeting of the Fact Forum of the American Women's Association of Rome will be held Wednesday morning at 10:30 at the home of Mrs Albert S. Watson, 19 Via Lovania, Apt. 2. The guest speaker will be the new executive director of the Fulbright Commission, Miss Cipriana Scelba . . . a large group of members of Rome's art world assembled at Wednesday evening's vernissage of paintings by Juanita Prèval Piccoli at the Medusa Gallery on Via del Babuino. Among those present were American sculptors Robert Cook, Louis Trakis and Anthony Padovano; American graphic artist Edmond Casarella; American painters Brenner and Helani, as well as Chen Chou Soo, Josef Strachota and Koo Stroo. Italian artists present included Carlo Levi, Aldo Capacci, Sebastian Carta, Bepe Laurenza, Sante Monachesi, Lina Saba, Sergio Selva and Lionello Zorn. Also on hand: U.S. Cultural Attaché John L. Brown, La Feluca's Vittore Querèl, poet Vittorio Bodini, Donalda Dompke, Mrs Jack Corbett, Mrs Leo James Horvath, Lucy Praz, Dr. and Mrs Jay Robinson and Sheila Smith . . . another new art exhibit is that of sculpture by Quinto Ghermandi at Irene Brin's and Gaspero Del Corso's Obelisco Gallery on Via Sistina.

Ins And Outs

Great jazz singer Ella Fitzgerald, who has been at the Hotel Excelsior, will be off for Paris via TWA tomorrow . . . the American Export liner Constitution, which is on a 12,000-mile Mediterranean cruise that so far has taken in the Canary Islands, Gibraltar, Palermo, Istanbul, Piraeus, Alexandria, Beirut and Haifa, reaches Naples today. The liner's next stops are Cannes on Monday, Genoa on Tuesday, Barcelona on Wednesday, Palma de Mallorca on Thursday and Lisbon next Saturday, April 15. The vessel returns to New York April 22. Among the passengers taking the cruise are Elmer Robinson, former mayor of San Francisco, and his wife; J. D. Blodgett Sr., owner of the Raymond Whitcomb Travel Service; Virginia State Sen. and Mrs Harry Stuart; Max Cohen, president of Cinema Circuit, the New York theater chain, and Mrs Cohen; Mr and Mrs J. A. Drew of Boston; Mr and Mrs Thomas E. Jeremy of Salt Lake City; Mr and Mrs Anselm Wise of Toronto.

Where They Are

Italian moviemaker Michelangelo Antonioni, who is much in the news these days since the New York premiere of his film, "L'Avventura," which critics found both baffling and beautiful, has arrived in Mexico City for a brief visit. With him is Monica Vitti, who appears in the film and whose parents and brother Franco Ceciarelli have been residents of Mexico for more than six years. Ceciarelli, with his mother-in-law Maria Pavignani, owns two of Mexico's fanciest women's fashion shops . . . American author Alden Hatch, who was in Rome last year working on a book, has announced in New York that his new opus will be a biography of Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, to be published by the firm of H. J. W. Brecht of Amsterdam early next year . . . from Santa Monica, Calif., comes word that Italian film writer-director Gualtiero Jacopetti is still hospitalized from injuries he sustained in the March 13 desert auto accident that killed his beautiful fiancée, Belinda Lee. Jacopetti is awaiting a second operation on a broken leg and when he is released in about six weeks he'll return to Italy to convalesce and resume his film career . . . all those actresses assembled in the Sicilian town of Forza d'Agro for the film "Jessica" got together in the lobby of the Hotel Souvenir to knit a sweater for director Jean Negulesco. Angie Dickinson knitted one of the sleeves, Sylva Koscina the other; Agnes Moorehead and Kerima did the back in two sections; Danielle de Metz and Rosanna Rory knitted the front; while Marina Berti, Georgette Anys and Manuela Rinaldi collaborated on pockets and borders. Knit result: one sleeve was 30 inches long and the other 35, one side of the front was twice as wide as the other, and the border was 10 inches too short.

If you have any news for "Lend Me Your Ears" about your of your friends' parties, social gatherings, arrivals, departures, engagements, marriages, etc., please telephone Rome: 587.115 between 1 and 4 p.m. or write to 8 Via Dandolo, Rome, Italy. Information about birthdays should be written in or phoned in at least three days in advance.

GEORGE McGOVERN, special assistant to President Kennedy and director of the U.S. Food for Peace Program, chats with Director-General B. R. Sen of FAO and other delegates to a committee meeting which is advising the director general on a report proposing more effective use of world agricultural abundance to help needy peoples. Deliberations will continue through Wednesday.

TV-NIGHTCLUB funnyman Henri Salvador has two more appearances on the popular Saturday night television program, "Giardino d'Inverno" — tonight and April 15. Already famous in France, Salvador has acquired a vast number of Italian fans during the last few months that he has been appearing here. An average of 30 fan letters arrive at his Rome apartment per day — to say nothing of those that reach him through RAI-TV. From Rome, the comedian returns to Paris, with a date at London's swank Savoy in the offing.

Busy Schedule Planned For Visit Of Queen

THE STAGE IS SET for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip's official visit to Italy next month. The program has been released, and it's a very busy one.

The Royal party is due in the Bay of Naples on May 2, aboard the Royal Yacht "Britannia." After the landing ceremony, they will visit the San Martino museum before leaving for Rome by special train.

In Rome, the Royal guests will be received at the Chief of State's Residence, the Quirinale Palace, where President Giovanni Gronchi will offer a reception.

May 3rd will bring a round of visits — to the Victor Emmanuel Memorial and the Commonwealth Military Cemetery — a visit to the Red Cross headquarters for the Queen, while the Prince inspects an atomic research laboratory in Frascati.

Then there will be a lunch given by Premier Amintore Fanfani at "Villa Madama." In the afternoon, the Royal guests will attend the Rome Horse Show; and in the evening, the opera.

On the 4th, Prince Philip will visit FAO, before joining the Queen at Palazzo Barberini where, together, they will receive the Commonwealth Colony in Rome.

The day will also include a lunch by President Gronchi at the Castelporziano Hunting Lodge near Rome, and a reception at the British Embassy.

On May 5th, the official visit will end, and the Royal visitors will leave for Venice and Florence on a three-day private tour.

Happy Birthday . . .

. . . today to Mrs Mary Chilton of Florence . . . to Mrs Richard J. Dunn, wife of the Vicenza Military Post signal officer . . . to Australian Ambassador to Italy Hugh A. McClure Smith . . . to Mario De Cesare of ENIT . . . and to Italian artist Sergio Romiti.

Dedication Ceremony

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, prevented by illness from attending the cornerstone laying of the new building of the Bologna Center of Advanced International Studies of Johns Hopkins University, will be on hand for its dedication. Prof. C. Grove Haines, director of the Bologna Center, disclosed yesterday that Eisenhower, brother of the ex-President and president of Johns Hopkins, will preside at ceremonies in Bologna on April 27, and on the next day will receive an honorary law degree. Accompanying Eisenhower will be Prof. Francis O. Wilcox, dean of the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies. Both he and Eisenhower will be guests of honor the night of April 27 at a formal dinner in the Majestic-Baglioni Hotel, and at the Jolly Hotel the following night. The dedication ceremonies will be at 10:30 a.m. on the premises at 11 Via Belmeloro

Fair Play

On Saturday, April 29th, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. The Parioli International Day School will hold a Spring Fair on the school grounds. All sorts of gay things are planned: films, raffles, games, a junior "night club," a tea shop, pony rides, dancing, a white elephant sale, and all sorts of stands for purchases of books, phonograph records, stamps, flowers and plants, cakes, and so on. Those wishing to participate in the organization of the fair should contact the school. Everyone is invited to go and have fun at the fair.

Film Flam

The Centro Culturale Cinematografico Italiano has recently moved into new headquarters, at 31 Via Dalmazia. The Center was created in 1955 by Marcello Andrei, young director, and has grown greatly since then. The work of the Center is to send Italian cultural films abroad, to introduce cultural foreign and Italian films in Italy, and to deal with technical problems of film-making. Honorary President of the Center is Alberto Folchi, Minister of Turism and Entertainment . . . "La Dolce Vita," the controversial film that took Italy by storm last year, will be shown in New York on April 19, in a big Broadway theater. For the first time in the history of Broadway, a legitimate theater has been adapted for the showing of a film. Seat reservations were put on sale a month before opening night, and have already gone over the one hundred thousand dollar mark. Other notable Italian films to be shown to American audiences during the year are: "Rocco e i Suoi Fratelli," "Il Bidone," "Il Grido" and "La Terra Trema." All these films will be shown in the original version, with English subtitles . . . Roberto Rossellini's film "Il Generale Della Rovere," with Vittorio De Sica, was judged the best foreign film of 1960 by the "All American Press" . . . More Italo-American film news: the Titanus Motion Picture Company has signed a contract with MGM for joint production of Italian films and their world-wide distribution. The films will be co-produced by the two companies, but will have all-Italian casts and directors. Six pictures are planned for the next three years, and will be distributed by MGM.

St. Paul's Church

Rev. Wilbur C. Woodhams, new rector for St. Paul's Church, arrives tonight from Geneva where he attended an invocation of European Episcopal Churches, and will give the sermon on Sunday morning.

If you have any news for "Lend Me Your Ears" about your of your friends' parties, social gatherings, arrivals, departures, engagements, marriages, etc., please telephone Rome: 587.115 between 1 and 4 p.m. or write to 8 Via Dandolo, Rome, Italy. Information about birthdays should be written in or phoned in at least three days in advance.

FAMOUS ARTIST-WRITER Carlo Levi ("Christ Stopped at Eboli") greets American artist Juanita Préval Piccoli at the vernissage of her one-man show of paintings at La Medusa Gallery on Via del Babuino. Mrs Piccoli's exhibit will close tomorrow.

James Thurber Philosophizes On Outer Space And Inner Man

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, April 13 (AP) — "So the Russians have put a man into space," said American author James Thurber. "Well, mankind shouldn't get too puffed up about it."

Digesting the block-busting headlines of London newspapers accounts of the Soviet accomplishment, Thurber added:

"We should all of us in our humility remember that several animals—dogs, monkeys, birds and insects—have already beat man into space.

"Man is very strange," he said. "Why are we knocking ourselves out to get men into space when we don't know anything about ourselves?

"I'm convinced the Russians have done this for its propaganda value against the Americans.

"The Americans are among the bravest people in the world, and yet, we're the jumpiest. Just let somebody drop something heavy behind an American and boy—do we jump."

The totally blind author, humorist, and artist—talking in an interview—said: "Yes sir, by tomorrow night we're going to have another quarter million Americans running to psychiatrists all because of this Russian space man.

"There's something about the outer space," said Thurber, "that drives the inner American nuts."

Then he smiled: "It may make us jump—but I bet it's scared the pants off the Martians. We're always picturing the Martians as terrible looking people. But I wonder what they'd think about us now that we're getting close."

LOVELY YOUNG American Starlet, Fiametta (Didi) Verges, has been living and working in Rome for the past three years. She's done fashion modelling for Capucci and De Luca, and has had bit parts in "Ben-Hur," "La Dolce Vita," "Hitler's Spies," "Sodom and Gomorrah," "Maciste Contro Il Vampiro," "Io Amo, Tu Ami." Before coming to Rome, Didi attended Mount Vernon Seminary in her home town, Washington, D. C. She's the daughter of noted Washington surgeon, Stephen Verges, and granddaughter of Washington architect, Nicholas Mezzanotte.
