RIDDLE OF THE "MISSING" KNITWEAR

Why is it that you can buy perfectly beautiful Italian wool knitwear in America—then when you come to Italy you can't find any? Or you can find it—but it doesn't fit the American figure, and chances are, the styles aren't the kind you are accustomed to either. The reason is the Italian knitwear which you buy in America is made in Italy especially for export consumption—according to American sizes, (from 8 to 16), and in styles most wearable by Americans. There is a showroom in the center of Rome,

ALBERTO IMPORTS

16 PIAZZA IN LUCINA (First Floor)

a branch of the ALBERTO ALFUS firm in New York, famous for their leather coats, where you can buy Italian knitwear as you like it—American sizes and models, with Italian workmanship, at wholesale prices.

The ALBERTO IMPORTS line is sold in over 2,000 of the best shops across the U.S. - Open continuously. Located five minutes from Piazza di Spagna down Via Frattina.

Norwegian Beauty Is Miss Europe

BEIRUT, Lebanon, June 8 (AP)—Norway's Mette Stenstad was elected "Miss Europe" early Saturday by an international jury.

The long limbed, green eyed blonde won the crown in competition with beauty queens from 17 other countries in the annual judging here.

Named to her court in the following order were Switzerland's Dianne Tanner, Denmark's Aino Korva and Sweden's Grete Givberg.

A 20 year old university student, the new Miss Europe was nearly overwhelmed with joy when her victory was announced.

"I was not expecting it," she said. "I am very glad. I'm just happy, happy. I'm very grateful—it's marvelous!" she told newsmen.

As the selection boomed over the loudspeakers of the Casino du Liban outside Beirut, torches on each side of Miss Stenstad's throne lit up and fireworks shot up into the sky and arched over the Mediterranean Sea.

The five foot seven inch Norwegian beauty said her election would not change her plans for the future. She said she is engaged to a fellow student at the University in Oslo but declared "It's too far in the future to talk of marriage."

Italy's strikingly proportioned Gianna Erbetta, a favorite with audiences here, applauded the choice of Miss Norway and said she didn't expect victory for herself.

"Italy never has good luck in beauty contests," said the 20-year-old actress with copper-colored hair. "It's very difficult for an Italian to win. I came just for the trip. It's always a Scandinavian who wins—but after all Miss Norway is a good choice."

Committee president Claude Berr of France told the newsmen Miss Norway won by a good margin and there was no disagreement among the jurors.
