Soviet Dogs Space-Tested Since 1951, Senate Learns

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—A report to the U.S. Senate disclosed today the Russians sent numerous other dogs on experimental flights before the famed Laika rode Sputnik II into space.

Details about Laika and her space predecessor were made public in a digest of Russian scientific reports prepared by the Library of Congress for the Senate's special Space Committee.

Translators said Laika was conditioned over a period of weeks to spend long hours in small airtight cabins with instruments of various types attached to its body.

The report noted that Americans have used anesthetized animals (monkeys and mice) while the Russians employed animals fully conscious.

It said the Russians succeeded in sending dogs into the upper layer of the atmosphere as early as 1951.

Dogs were first sent aloft about 60 miles, in rockets that permitted a free-fall part way back to earth in cabins landed by parachutes and shock absorbers. The animals appeared to be in good condition after landing, the report said, instruments recorded various reactions such as breathing rate, pulse, body temperature and the maximum and minimum blood pressures.

VIENNA, June 4 (UPI)—An American medical student, born and reared in the United States, has renounced his American citizenship, it was learned here today.

Allen Herbert Sobul, 28, of Cleveland, Ohio, who came here on May 13, officially repudiated his American citizenship at the United States Embassy here last Monday.

The Ohioan, who claims that he is against "nationalism," be it communism, capitalism or socialism, relinquished his citizenship in a formal official declaration and a sworn oath of renouncement before U. S. State Department officials in the Austrian capital.

"Sobul, now a 'man without a country,' told United Press International that the plans to seek Austrian citizenship.

Business With Soviet Eyed By Krupp Official

MOSCOW, June 4 (AP)—Krupp General Manager Berthold Beitz returned to Moscow after a brief swing around Soviet industrial centers to judge prospects of new business with Russia.

"There might be some new business in connection with the chemical industry," he said. This field has been pushed by Premier Nikita Khrushchev in recent weeks.

Fire Out After 51 Days

TEHRAN, June 4 (AP)—American expert Myron Kinley today finally succeeded in extinguishing a fire that has raged for 51 days in what is believed to be one of the world's biggest oil wells.

An official at the Ahwaz oil field said gas is still escaping from the well at tremendous pressure.

If you're liable to stomach acidity, or unexpected stomach-aches, you should always carry with you a little bottle of tablets of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. The tablets taste good (they're mint-flavoured) and have an immediate anti-acid action which quickly ends the pain. The action, moreover, is prolonged, and the tablets are particularly useful whether the gastric acidity is chronic or merely temporary. Ask your doctor!

East German Reds Drop Four From Party Central Committee

BERLIN, July 16 (UPI) — The East German Communist Party today dropped four leading members from its Central Committee. A party congress did not meet.

Former Deputy Premier Fred Oelsner, former Deputy Premier Fritz Selbmann, Ambassador to Communist China Paul Wandel and Deputy Planning Commission Chairman Margarete Wittkowski.

Oelsner and Selbmann were fired as two of East Germany's nine deputy premiers in February as revisionists.

Wandel was fired as Culture Minister last November and sent to Peckling.

Named Candidate

Wittkowski, although not reelected to the Central Committee was named one of 44 candidate members.

The congress named the Central Committee at the last session of its seven-day session.

All but two Central Committee members and one candidate member were elected by unanimous vote of the 1,648 delegates.

One vote was cast against the three. They were not identified but they did not include Party Leader Walter Ulbricht or Premier Otto Grotewohl.

The number of Central Committee members was increased from 91 to 111. The number of candidates remained at 44.

Marine Landings Called Good Time For Beach Party

A veteran KLM airlines captain who arrived here yesterday from Beirut said the U.S. Marine landing in Lebanon was "an occasion for taking a holiday, go to the beach for a swim and watch the Marines at the same time."

Capt. Bas Andriessen of Middleburg, a ten-year veteran with the airline, said "everything was so orderly that it looked more like an exercise than anything else."

It was all so peaceful.

Capt. Andriessen brought in KLM Flight 828 with 22 passengers none of whom, however, boarded the plane at Beirut. The flight originated in Singapore for Amsterdam.

Capt. Andriessen, stranded at Beirut two days, and there during the Marine landing, said that the operation "came as a real surprise to everybody, but I have the impression that even to the Lebanese it was not an unpleasant one."

He said Beirut airfield's control tower was manned by regular Lebanese personnel who directed operations as usual.

American Writer Reported Killed In Iraq Uprising

ALBANY, Ore., July 16 (UPI) — One of the American businessmen killed Monday in Iraq, it was reported yesterday, was Eugene Burns, author and former war correspondent, of Sausalito, Calif.

The report came from Glenn Jackson, Bedford, Ore., Burns' brother-in-law. Jackson said he was notified by the office of Gov. Robert D. Holmes and later talked to his sister, Olga, Burns' wife, at her home in Sausalito, near San Francisco.

However at the Burns' residence a friend of Mrs. Burns said she had received from the State Department only an "unconfirmed" report that Burns was missing.

Ex-Harvard Instructor

Burns formerly was an instructor in English at Harvard University of Idaho and Albany College. He joined the Associated Press in Honolulu before Pearl Harbor and continued with AP during the war.

He has been a free lance writer and syndicated columnist recently. Recently Burns has been active in organizing the Holy Land Foundation, a non-profit organization with the stated purpose of combating communism in the Holy Land.
