Cairo Attacks UK Critics Of 'Black Museum'

CAIRO, Dec. 5 (UPI) — Two morning newspapers today gave angry answers to British press criticism of a proposed museum on the spot where Lt. Anthony Moorhouse died during the Suez invasion.

Al Ahram said a Moorhouse museum would open on schedule as part of celebrations on the anniversary of the Anglo-French military withdrawal. It said two more exhibitions may be added — one for Anthony Eden and the other for a British intelligence officer killed in a hand grenade attack.

Answering an attack by London's right-wing Daily Express on the "murder museum," Al Ahram said "Another exhibition can be considered if the Daily Express wishes — an exhibition about another Briton killed in Port Said even though he has not been buried — a Briton named Anthony Eden."

Eden was Prime Minister during the Suez invasion.

This reference was believed to be in the nature of a spiteful reaction rather than a serious proposition. Both Al Ahram and Al Gomhouria said there could be no question of the release of James Zarb, a Maltese, before the end of his 10-year prison sentence on an espionage charge.

Sand-Storms Delay Suez Shipping

PORT SAID, Dec. 5 (UPI)—Heavy sand-storms with 25 mph winds suspended Suez Canal Navigation yesterday.

Ships were taking up to 18 hours to enter Port Said harbor from the Mediterranean.

The 13,217-ton French passenger ship Cambodge was delayed in the Mediterranean but expected to enter harbor about midnight.

Iraq Cuts Curfew

BAGHDAD, Dec. 5 (AP) — The curfew in Iraq imposed Oct. 7 when an assassination attempt was made on Premier Abdel Karim Kassem has now been cut to four and a half hours nightly from 0030 to 0500.

Indonesia Warns Australian Premier

JAKARTA, Dec. 5 (AP) — Foreign Minister Subandrio today warned Australia that if war comes Indonesia would be used as a springboard for an attack on her.

He made the remarks after a talk with visiting Australian Premier Robert Menzies.

Subandrio told newsmen he had asked the Australian Premier why Australia opposed inclusion of West Irian (West New Guinea) in Indonesia's territory.

"We wish to make it plain that it is not only in the interest of Indonesia but also of Australia that West Irian should be returned to Indonesia," he said.
