LEND ME YOUR EARS:

Pier Angeli, Musician To Honeymoon In Rome

HOLLYWOOD STAR PIER ANGELI and Italian jazz composer and band leader Armando Trovajoli will honeymoon in Rome after their marriage tomorrow in London. Asked why she had come all the way to London to marry, Pier said: "I love London. I shall always love London." Next month the 29-year-old actress will start work on a film in Paris. She said she and her 45-year-old fiance will make their home in Rome . . . Mark Damon is back in Rome from Paris after finishing additional scenes for "The Longest Day." He has two commitments in Italy this month . . . Peter Danes' newest role in Italian films is that of the "heavy" in "I Tre Nemici," a satire on the recent David Niven-Alberto Sordi film "I Due Nemici" . . . Robert Wagner has come to Rome from London after completing "The War Lover" . . . Gordon Scott left Rome for Cairo, where he is staring in "Karim, the Sheik's Son," together with Gordon Mitchell and Moira Orfei . . . Carlo Ponti went off to London to sign Alec Guinness for the film "Altona" based on the Jean Paul Sartre stage hit . . . Irish actor Michael MacLiammoir is staying at the Garden Roxy Hotel while putting on his "The Importance of Being Oscar" for the Rome Theater Club. Tonight's the second and final performance at the Parioli Theater.

Jerry G. Patton, 110th Avn. Co., SETAF . . . to Anita C. Walsh, wife of Maj. Richard J. Walsh, USAG, Verona . . . to Mrs Marjorie Landry, wife of the Vicenza Military Post provost marshal . . . and to Mrs Ethel Renton, mother of BEA's Bruce Renton.

The Muses

English artist Diane Hardiman — who has exhibited at London's Royal Academy and New York's "Little Studio" — is currently having her first Rome show at the San Marco Gallery, 61 Via del Babuino. Miss Hardiman came to Rome two years ago on holiday, and like many others, stayed. But her native village of Ashtead ("It's not a town — it's a space," she says) still seems to have influence over her work. Her exhibit, which continues at the San Marco through Saturday, also includes Rome scenes from the circus, the Villa Borghese and other places that suit her talent for people and color and life. Critic Livio Apolloni said of her paintings: "They are a party" . . . something of the naive quality of Miss Hardiman's paintings are shared by others at the current exhibit — entitled "Naives 1962" — at the La Feluca Gallery, 38 Via Frattina . . . an exhibition of works by the painter Franco Girosi opened at the Russo Gallery over the weekend. The one-man show will continue through Feb. 21 . . . the Il Camino Gallery opens a one-man show 5:30 p.m. Thursday of the works of Karol Badura — many of them scenes of Rome . . . another painter who has not neglected to take a look at Rome — Agnese Tosti — opens her one-woman show at the La Cassapanca Gallery, 107-a Via del Babuino, on Thursday at 6 p.m. . . . the Stagni Gallery will show the works of Lia Drei starting Wednesday and continuing through Feb. 24. The gallery is at 43 Via Angelo Brunetti.

Roundup

French writer Françoise Sagan and Bob Westhof, her American husband, ended their honeymoon in the Italian winter sports resort of Cortina D'Ampezzo over the weekend. They left by helicopter and were believed headed for Switzerland . . . a new arrival in Rome is Miss Universe, Ragnmild Olausson of Sweden . . . the university and city of Bonn are honoring the late Italian poet and playwright Luigi Pirandello today and tomorrow. An Italian delegation went to Germany for the festivities, which include a performance of Pirandello's best known play "Six Characters In Search of an Author" . . . Australian soprano Joan Sutherland scored a success in her return to La Scala Opera House Saturday night. The singer, who made a triumphant debut last year on the famous stage in Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor," sang Bellini's "La Sonnambula" (The Sleepwalker) this time. The audience called her back several times at the end of each act . . . at the Open Gate benefit for the families of the Christmas Eve train disaster in Catanzaro, Princess Marcella Borghese introduced her new make-up for 1962, the "Principessa," and Schuberth models paraded their employer's new spring and summer styles before an audience which included some of Italy's most noble names. Among the guests were Countess Susy Lupi, the Prince and Princess Paolo Borghese, Countess Pecci, the Princess Colonna, Dr. and Mrs Cedric Fernando, Jo di Benigo, the Marchesa Lilly Gerini, the Countess Manfredi, Rina Zingone, the Countess Perozzi, the Count and Countess Battaglia, Mr and Mrs Domenico Purificato, Mr and Mrs C. V. Smith, the Ambassador of Thailand and his wife, and many others.

Moiseyev Dancers' Rock And Roll Knocks 'Em Dead

MOSCOW, Feb. 12 (UPI) — The Moiseyev dance troupe won wild applause with its version of American rock 'n' roll at a performance here last night, but scenes depicting the Cuban revolution were only mildly received.

The occasion was the 25th anniversary performance of the troupe which made a triumphant tour of the United States last year.

The finale, billed as a parody of American rock 'n' roll, was applauded for 15 minutes in an unsuccessful attempt to bring the troupe back for an encore.

The dance based on the Cuban revolution was performed for the first time. It faithfully recorded the Russian propaganda image of the revolution complete with girls wearing berets and bearded men in battle dress carrying mock machineguns.

Two "imperialist" tourists wearing sun helmets were shown being driven off the stage by the revolutionaries.

The anniversary performance in Tschaikovsky Hall brought out many leading lights of Soviet society including Culture Minister Ekaterina Furtseva and Pravda editor Pavel Satyukov.

drei Gromyko.

"Thus far I could not report that any significant progress has been made" Rusk said.

"I think the principal point is it continues to be discussed. The discussions are serious and direct, but one canot report agreement."

The Soviet proposals about a Berlin settlement, Rusk said, amount to eliminate East Berlin as a topic of East-West discussion and seeking concessions on West Berlin that "would involve some major invasions of vital interest to the West and some basic rights of the West and of West Berliners."

On other points, Rusk said.

● Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy is undertaking his global tour at Rusk's request and is eminently qualified for his mission, including discussing "certain points of business" with other governments. "I am very pleased and enthusiastic about this trip," Rusk said.

● The recent Punta Del Este (Uruguay) American foreign ministers' meeting showed a degree of unanimity encouraging to the Alliance for Progress aid program for Latin America.

● The $200 million UN bond issue is not a precedent for future financing of the world organization, and "that is a point which will need to be watched very closedy in the years ahead."

wish they'd tell us what it is."

RUSK COMMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said last night that Russia's release of U-2 flier Francis Gary Powers does not in itself move us "very far in the issues that divide the Communist and the free worlds."

Rusk said that it is of some advantage to get "unnecessary irritations" out of the way.

"But I would not draw any conclusions from this return of Mr Powers with respect to questions like Berlin or Southeast Asia," he added. The Secretary made the statements when questioned on a radio program.

National Guardsmen used bazookas to blast an ice jam on the White River which sent flood waters 18 inches deep through Rangely, Colo., and forced persons to flee homes.

Temperatures remained in the 60s early today as far north as Kansas and Missouri. Wichita, Kan., set a record with a high of 81 yesterday. Records also were set at Midland, Texas, with a high of 86, and at Oklahoma City, where a new mark was set for the second day in a row when the mercury reached 84. Gage, Okla., had a high of 90 degrees.

Adoula To Russia?

LEOPOLDVILLE, Feb. 13 (UPI)—Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula, just returned from a visit to the United States, has accepted an invitation to the Soviet Union this summer, informed sources said today.

Bulgarian Pilot Gets Attorney

BARI, Feb. 13 (UPI) — Bulgarian pilot Milusc Solakov today received a birthday present from Italy — a lawyer to defend him against charges of political and military espionage.

The Bari District Court announced Vittorio Malcangi, a well-known and well-respected Italian lawyer, would defend the young pilot. At the same time, Solakov celebrated his 23rd birthday in the Bari Prison Infirmary, where he is recovering from injuries suffered when his plane crashed Jan. 20.

Solakov, a second lieutenant in the Bulgarian Air Force, crashed in his Russian-built Mig-17 near a super-secret NATO missile base near here. The plane apparently was on a spy mission to take pictures of that and the other NATO missile bases which dot the area.

Neurotic Dog Takes To The Couch

MILAN, Feb. 13 (AP) — An English "dog psychiatrist" today started the trying task of coaxing mean-tempered Lance back into the ranks of man's best friends.

Lance is a 3 1/2-year-old German shepherd dog condemned to die by a court at Windsor, Canada, for biting people.

His owner, Mrs Amathea Fenech, hustled Lance off to Milan before he could be executed. But now she wants to go back to Windsor.

The problem is: Lance will either have to spend the rest of his days here in exile, or he'll have to mend his wicked ways so thoroughly that the Canadian court will pardon him.

Mrs Fenech called in an expert. He is Frank Pettit, ex-sergeant of English police and a man with knowing ways and a lot of patience when it comes to dogs.

He said he thinks Lance is simply suffering from phychological trauma as result of some unhappy experience with the human race during the impressionable years of his puppyhood.

The cure, he said, would consist mostly of treating Lance well and giving him a good and patient talking to on the fine points of canine manners.

If he succeeds, he will give Lance a certificate of re-education and good behavior. Then, of course, it will be a question of whether the Canadian court gives Lance a second chance.

swept streets.

Portraits of the dead, draped in black, were carried in the cortege by friends who had worked with them, and near the head of the column which strung out for blocks was a file of wreath carriers nearly 500 yards long.

A youth with tear-streaked cheeks helped carry a picture of the youngest victim, a 15-year-old boy.

As though in companion tribute, the rest of the city was as silent as a Sunday morning, and even the usually bustling traffic on the broad Champs Elysées was thin.

As the cortege proceeded along its route, policemen facilitated its movement and funneled what traffic there was into sidestreets.

FIVE SLAIN

ALGIERS, Feb. 13 (AP) — Four Moslem auxiliary soldiers and their French commander were found slain today in their camp in the suburb of Maison Carré.

Their weapons were missing.

Authorities blamed the killings on three other Moslem auxiliaries — known as Moghaznis — assigned to guard a French officer. They said the three fled the camp with the weapons after cutting the throats of their comrades.

ALGIERS!

ALGIERS, Feb. 13 (UPI) — Riot police used grenades and clubs today to break up separate Moslem and European demonstrations in two suburbs of Algiers.

The demonstrations erupted in mid-afternoon as protest against terror attacks which today centered mainly on Algiers.

By 9:30 p.m., the day's terror toll in Algiers and Oran alone was 16 killed and 21 wounded.

coming Geneva disarmament talks.

Italy is one of the 18 nations on the UN Disarmament Committee meeting in Geneva next month.

The communication, announced in Moscow last night, apparently did not arrive at the Italian Foreign Ministry until late yesterday.

Italian officials avoided comment on the communication.

THREAT

LONDON, Feb. 13 (UPI)—Moscow told the West in a triple warning today Soviet terms for East-West negotiations will be tough.

The Soviet government organ, Izvestia, said Premier Khrushchev considers a summit "necessary" to tackle the crucial disarmament problem. It indicated Khrushchev will not be easily persuaded to drop his proposal for an 18 nation summit in Geneva next month.

Izvestia said Western arguments against such top level meetings were "absolutely untenable."
