LEND ME YOUR EARS:

Annual Scout Camporee Slated For Leghorn Area

BOY SCOUTS FROM PISA-LEGHORN AREA will join with some 200 U. S. Boy Scouts in Italy and Sicily in staging the annual camporee of the Mediterranean (American) Scout District at Leghorn June 30 to July 2.

The meet will attract American Scouts from the local area, Naples, Verona, Aviano, Rome, Vicenza, Taranto and Sigonella, Sicily. Last year the camporee was held at Navarre, near Verona.

Army Lt. Col. Kenneth O. Reed, neighborhood commissioner of American Scouting in the area, said the camporee would be held on Italian public land adjacent to the Leghorn General Depot. Living quarters will be pup tents, erected by the Scouts, and cooking will be individually done by patrols over campfires.

Happy Birthday . . .

. . . today to Carol Stevens of Manufacturers Trust . . . to Count Umberto Morra di Lavriano of the Italian Society of International Organizations . . . and to Sfc. James E. Hayes and S/Sgt. Talton S. Hargis Jr., both of the 8th Logistical Command, Leghorn.

Tiber Topics

Thirty-four congenial, generous Texans — representing the Houston Chamber of Commerce and the Port Commission — were hosts yesterday of a luncheon attended by a number of Italian and American businessmen of Rome at the Quirinale Hotel. There were no speeches outside of brief remarks from Gordon H. Turrentine, general manager of the Houston chamber, and W. N. Blanton, oilman, banker and representative of the Port Commission. The tour, which is for the express purpose of thanking the nations which are closely tied to Houston in business for their cooperation, heads for Paris today . . . Leonard Lewis Levinson of New York flew in via Alitalia to spend two months in Italy working on a book entitled "The Best of Italian Cooking," which Pocket Books will bring out next April. With him are his daughter and son-in-law, Mr and Mrs Francesco degli Espinoso . . . Joseph Howell, Canada's assistant deputy minister of national revenue, and his wife have checked into the Hotel Eden . . . FAO's Director General B. R. Sen is off this weekend for a two-week visit to Turkey and Greece to inspect the progress of FAO projects in those countries . . . noteworthy among the weekend's new art shows in Roman galleries are these three: oil abstractions by Armenian-born American artist Vahan Amadouni at Princess Topazia Alliata's Trastevere Gallery; tempera and lithographs by Sam Francis at Il Segno on Via Capo le Case; and paintings by Spanish artist Rafael Canogar at L'Attico on Piazza di Spagna . . . among the 38 scholars who have just been awarded Ford International Fellowships in New York are Luigi Rossi of Milan and Alexander Tzonis of Athens.

Musical Memos

Two national academies in Rome — the American and German — will jointly present a concert at the German Academy, 2 Largo di Villa Massimo, on Wednesday afternoon at which compositions by fellows of both institutes will be executed. Composers represented on the program are Bernd Aloi Zimmermann, Hans Ulrich Engelmann, George Balch Wilson, Robert Moevs and John Eaton . . . four American singers — soprano Lucille Udovich, tenor Herbert Handt and bassos Franco Ventriglia and Peter Harrower — as well as Italy's Anna Maria Rota will be the vocal soloists in Bach's "Passion According to St. Matthew" at the final concert of the Santa Cecilia season tomorrow afternoon at the Auditorio, Fernando Previtali conducting . . . after a year and a half's study in Rome, American soprano Nina Allen leaves Monday for the States via Paris and London, with summer engagements awaiting her at Ashbury Park, N. J., and in Connecticut. She'll be back in Rome in the fall . . . six young American singers have been named winners of the nation wide American Opera Auditions, which will provide them with an opportunity to make their operatic debuts in Italy this year. They are: Gladys Kriese-Caporale of New York, Carol Toscano of Philadelphia, June Sanford of San Francisco, David Dodds of New York, Robert Noulson of Cleveland and John Modenos of Yonkers, N. Y.

Letter From Beirut

Annual elections of the American Women's Club of Lebanon were held this week. New president will be Mrs Frederick A. Long, wife of USIS' regional television officer. She will replace hard-working Mrs Leland W. Wade, whose husband is manager of First National City Bank in Beirut. Vice President will be Mrs R. G. Khayat; receiving secretary, Mrs Vernon Tietjen; corresponding secretary, Mrs John Chellman; treasurer, Mrs Willard Ewing. Other chairmanships went as follows: membership, Mrs John Sorman; social, Mrs John Howell; publicity, Mrs John Leighton; program, Mrs Sam Hanna; international relations, Mrs Ernest Ramsaur; ways and means, Mrs Julian Schon and Mrs Harold Helling; service, Mrs Norris Hammond. The wife of the American Ambassador, Mrs Robert McClintock, will remain honorary president. The new officers will take over in the fall.

Lebanon's Minister of Public Health, Dr. Ilias Khouri, has presented the Order of the Cedar to the Medical Alumni Association of Beirut's American University. The award marked the university's 50th anniversary. Others who received the award were Dr. Raif Nassif, director of AUB hospital laboratories and chairman of the 11th Middle East Medical Assembly; and Dr. Farid S. Haddad, president of the AUB Medical Alumni Association. The presentations came during a special dinner party in the Bristol Hotel marking the conclusion of the three-day 11th Medical Assembly.

ATTENTION, GOURMETS! — Tonight's the night for the gourmet party to be held at Rome's Notre Dame School under auspices of FAWCO (Federation of American Women's Clubs Overseas). The ladies grouped around the poster are (in clockwise order): Mrs Anthony J. King, Mrs Stephen Verges, Miss Madeleine Gernsback, Mrs Joseph Nacmias, Mrs Thomas D. Alden, Mrs John Goshie and Mrs Chris Cochrane. Tickets are still obtainable by calling Mrs Nacmias at 803.144.

Foreign Requests Snubbed By Eichmann, Court Hears

JERUSALEM, May 17 (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann rejected the attempts of foreign governments to intercede on behalf of German Jews, the prosecution charged today.

Documents were introduced purporting to show that Eichmann set himself up as a watch dog over the Nazi Foreign Ministry and forbade it to grant requests received through official channels.

It was clear from the documentary evidence that the German Foreign Office deferred to Eichmann on all matters involving Jews, although he was only a lieutenant colonel in the Gestapo.

Sweden asked the German Foreign Office to prevent the deportation of Alfred I. Phillipson from Bonn. Eichmann rejected the request. The Argentine Embassy in Berlin requested that Meyer Israel Meyerhoff be allowed to go to Argentina and take out citizenship. Eichmann said no.

Eichmann even attempted to persuade the Thailand diplomatic mission in Berlin to release one of its Jewish employees, Israel Hirschberg.

Other documents showed Eichmann forced the Jews to buy their own railway tickets to death and degradation.

Documents admitted in evidence pictured Eichmann as a sort of overall station master who confiscated 25 per cent of the cash of each deported Jew and used it to pay the traveling expences. There seemed to have been no such thing as a round trip ticket.

Eichmann kept this money in an account identified as "W," the prosecution said, and paid it out to the Nazi Transport Ministry whenever he shipped Jews eastward on their journey of no return. The 25 per cent levy did not mean the Jews could keep title to the remainder of their assets. It was seized in the name of the Nazi state.

15 Nations Join In Red Cross Fund Drive

Fifteen foreign nations, including the United States, will participate in this year's annual fund drive for the International Social Service of the Italian Red Cross, scheduled to open Saturday at the Palazzo Barberini in Rome.

Highlight of the campaign, which will run until June 4, will be the competition of table settings — a profusion of place arrangements replete with damasks and silks, silver, rare china, and flowers in that section of the palace occupied by the Armed Forces Club.

The competition will be under the patronage of Donna Carla Gronchi, wife of the President of Italy, and the auspices of the Italian Ministry for Tourism.

First prize in table arrangement will be a Fiat 600; second, a Vespa motorscooter. During the competition there also will be a raffle for a two-week holiday at the Lido di Venice for two people, a ticket for a cruise to Greece, a precious Indian sari, and various French perfumes.

. . . patron of competition

The embassies of 15 countries have offered to each dedicate a day for serving special refreshments of their country.

The refreshment pavilion will be decorated daily with typical furnishings of the country in charge, and girls in native costume will sell food and drink specialities of their country to visitors. The committee expects to have on hand Brazilian coffee, Canadian whiskey, French champagne, German beer, Dutch gin, American bourbon and top quality wines, as well as foreign perfumes, toys, dolls, matches, and the like.

In addition to the tables in competition for the two main prizes there will be a display of tables reconstructed in antique and traditional patterns. Visitors will be able, for example, to see a Roman table with triclinium, a table set for the mythological King Midas, a northern Christmas table, and an authentic Roman 6th Century offering prepared by a noted Roman antiquarian.

The International Social Service of the Italian Red Cross was started in 1932 with the intent of assisting people of all nationalities, races and religions. The Service has reunited separated families, handled legal problems, checked for missing persons, and provided for the protection of minors, among its many activities.

The schedule for the Embassy days is given above:

May 20, Brazil; May 21, India; May 22, Greece; May 23, Germany; May 24, Great Britain; May 25, the Scandinavian countries; May 26, United States; May 27, Canada, May 28, France; May 29, Peru; May 30, Switzerland; May 31, Japan; June 1, Argentina; June 2, the Low Countries, and on June 3 and 4, the Italian diplomatic corps.
