Mac, Gromyko Discuss Berlin

Macmillan himself who spelled out the grave dangers of any one-sided Communist action either against West Berlin itself or against the allied air, land and water lanes into the city.

Macmillan further underlined that Britain is four-square behind the United States in its firm resolve to fight in defense of its vital Western interests in Berlin itself and all Germany.

The problem of the Berlin powder-keg was the only subject of discussion.

"The same ground was covered," the Foreign Office announced later, as that explored in Gromyko's recent talks with U.S. leaders in New York and Washington.

Comment On U.S.

At an airport news conference, Gromyko shrugged off what a questioner called "depressing" results from his American talks.

"Our conversations in America were not completed," he said.

"I think it is difficult now to find anybody to say "I know how the Berlin crisis will develop."

"What I can say definitely is that there is a possibility of a peaceful settlement," Gromyko said.

Gromyko avoided giving an opinion on whether Britain would act as mediator in the Berlin problem.

Gromyko said, "I told the United States in the name of the Soviet government that there is a possibility of solving this question of Berlin — peacefully and in such a way which would be acceptable to all states concerned. But not everything depends on the Soviet Union.

"We think all responsible governments and first of all, the governments of the big powers, should work in the direction of promoting understanding.

"First of all the governments of all the great powers must do everything to avert military collision," he said.

E. GERMAN THREAT

BERLIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Communist East Germany warned today that attempts to bring West German police into West Berlin by air or land would be considered aggression and met accordingly.

The warning took the form of a note by the East German Foreign Ministry directed to the United States, Britain and France. It was disclosed tonight by the official East German news agency ADN.

The note referred to West German plans to sent extra traffic police to Berlin from West Germany to relieve Berlin police already strained by border duty along the 15-mile iron curtain dividing the city.

POLICE GET ARMS

BERLIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—West Berlin's 15,000 police have stores of light infantry weapons but these are kept locked up by the Western allies, an informant said tonight.

The allied informant was commenting on a Washington State Department promise that the U.S. would give "sympathetic consideration" to nay plea by the city government for better arms for the police, already in possession of U.S. M-1 rifles.

Mobilization

clude armor available to Polish and Czechoslovakian Army units now maneuvering in East Germany.

Western officials assessing the military situation in Western Europe said the Soviet military moves showed that Russia had mobilized its forces on the "Western front" while the state of readiness in NATO's forces was far from anything getting close to mobilization.

SERVICE EXTENDED

BERLIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Communist regime of East Germany has ordered men in its armed forces to serve an extra six months "to increase combat readiness," the controlled Red press reported today.

a city official recalled. "And in 1959, he kinda fell into the ocean before he hit the beach."

But young Mazzonis, an Alitalia employee will remain for awhile in the U.S. to work in the Italian airline's New York office, sailed in to the shore in his long boat and met the Indians in native costume without a hitch.

"We were reasonably sure he'd do it well," the spokesman said. "He had assured us he doesn't get seasick, can swim, and would be able to talk to the Indians in his native dialect."

The arrival of Mazzonis off Convention Hall climaxed a two-and-a-half hour program which included a parade involving about 40 military, civic, fraternal and school organizations and ten bands and drum corps. The parade was led by a contingent from nearby Lakehurst Naval Air Station, the Fort Monmouth Army band, and a Marine detachment.

The marine pageant was held [illegible] day, four days before the [illegible] Oct. 12 anniversary date, in order to attract the greatest number of weekend spectators.

Mazzonis was the first resident of Italy to play the part of Columbus since the ceremony was originated here four years ago.

His presence was pleasing to Asbury Mayor Thomas F. Shebell, whose parents were natives of Naples.

The Soviet Union has threatened to veto the membership application of Mauritania if Nationalist China bars Outer Mongolia.

The African nations were reported to have agreed that if this came about they would retaliate against Taipei by supporting Communist China's bid for Nationalist China's UN seat.

Western circles in the UN welcomed the reported decision of Nationalist China.

These circles were confident it would prevent the seating of Communist China in the organization for at least another year.

Von Braun said a decision "should be made soon" on whether to send the crew of the space capsule Apollo to the moon in a direct flight or use the "orbital rendezvous method" planned with the Nova to turn as an orbital launching pad for Apollo.

LEND ME YOUR EARS:

Venice Show Sponsored To Save Historic City

A CAMPAIGN FOR A SPECIAL LAW TO PRESERVE Venice as a "national monument" and thus stymie the modernists who would destroy the unique character of the canal city, gains impetus there today at the opening of a special exhibition in the Palazzo Ducale.

Italia Nostra (Our Italy) is sponsoring the show, which will include a large-scale model of Venice showing exactly what might happen to the ageless beauties of the Adriatic city should the modernists have their way.

"There is constant danger that speculators may manage to obtain approval of various parts of their plan for Venice," says Countess Anna Maria Cicogna Volpi, a leader in the fight to preserve Venice. "It is therefore urgent to arouse public opinion in order to forestall them."

Italia Nostra, in addition to seeking the status of a national monument for Venice, hopes to fashion a plan of financial aid from the government to help private owners to carry out the restoration and the consolidation of their property.

The exhibition will go on tour after a month in Venice, UNESCO has agreed to show it in Paris, after which Italia Nostra hopes to take it to every important city in Europe.

RIDDLE OF THE "MISSING" KNITWEAR

Why is it that you can buy perfectly beautiful Italian wool knitwear in America — then when you come to Italy you can't find any? Or you can find it — but it doesn't fit the American figure, and chances are, the styles aren't the kind you are accustomed to either. The reason is the Italian knitwear which you buy in America is made in Italy especially for export consumption — according to American sizes, (from 8 to 16), and in styles most wearable by Americans. Workshop News

The Positano Art Workshop plans a gala 10th year session during the summer of 1962. Starting with a modest 10 student registration in 1953, the workshop has worked up to its summer 1961 registration of 110 students from all over the world. The annual art exhibition will take place on July 4th, 1962 and of course will feature the work of many former students who will assemble for the occasion. The 10th anniversary of the workshop coincides with Italy's official recognition of the workshop as a cultural center and with its new location in the historic Palazzo Murat. Two American women, Edna Lewis and Irma Jonas, have directed the activities of the workshop since its beginning and are the current administrators. More information on the workshop can be had by writing directly to Positano.

Accent On Artistry

Afranio Metelli, an Umbrian artist, has an interesting exhibit at the Le Jardin des Artes Gallery which features still lifes. The artist has switched from his former figurative style which he did not feel permitted him as much concentration on color and composition as does the simpler still life style. His exhibit runs until Oct. 30

Chou Hits Soviet Leaders

ner of one Party leader greeting another.

Then Chou began the reply that indicated that the split between Chinese and Soviet leaders was not yet healed. Before the evening was over, there were indications that the Soviet leaders were ready to fight back with few holds barred.

Interspersed in the Chinese Premier's speech on Communist affairs was a brief but sharp blast at Kennedy.

"President Kennedy waves the olive branch," he said, "but he is worse than those who preceded him."

To prove his point Chou referred to Laos, Cuba and Berlin, all three crises in which Kennedy has taken a hand far from pleasing to the Communist countries. That was all that could be learned about his comments on Kennedy.

Major Soviet Concession In UN Reported

ing to make the concession and sent word through that delegation yesterday that he wanted to talk with Stevenson again.

The diplomatic sources said Zorin was standing on his position that there should be three, four, six or seven such advisers — including, at most, an American, a Russian, a Latin American, an African, an Eastern European and a Western European. He insists that if there is a Western European there must be an Eastern European, too.

One Western source said that conference was about "the whole thing" and not Tuesday's demand of the Western European group here that one of the principal advisers be a Western European.

Zorin told reporters only "We studied both our positions and did not agree on anything as yet."

Stevenson said specifically there was no agreement either on the timing of the declaration or on the number of the principal advisers. He summarized, "No runs. No hits and I can't say about the errors."

U.S. N-Tests

test series last month.

Stevenson repeated U.S. opposition to a new voluntary moratorium in testing without any inspection machinery.

"An uninspected moratorium," he said, "will only lead the world once again into the morass of confusion and deceit. A test ban treaty is the path to peace."

Ambulances Menace

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP) — A surgeon told safety leaders here, "The speeding ambulance causes death to more people than it saves." Dr. Preston A. Wade of New York, an orthopedist who was consulted about the treatment of President John F. Kennedy's back injury, made the statement at the National Safety Congress.
