Round & Round The Underground

One important new part of the history of the underground is the fact that the first underground train was run in 1863. The first underground train was run in 1863. The first underground train was run in 1863.

Many Veterans in many ways, of course, the veterans of so many veterans of the war. The veterans of the war. The veterans of the war.

The final shooting of the long program took place in NBC's big limited space permits almost bath-taking flying scenes to be completed uninhibited by the presence of wings of the usual rich require great muscular constitution and strength to hold a position in the air, for which the train.

I really love the flying part. But Mary's non-plane flying days are now over with "Peter Pan" successfully and safely on tape.

Round & Round The Underground

LONDON, Dec. 7 (UPI) — A round-the-underground record was claimed yesterday by two brothers after traveling 20 hours and 27 minutes on 45 tube trains and seven buses.

Tom and Jim Branch from Wodley, Berkshire, started their record bid Monday at 4:59 a.m. and finished early yesterday at 1:26 p.m. in an Aylesbury police station.

Before their success, 20 other attempts by 46 people had been made since June 1959 but none had succeeded in covering every underground station in one operational day.

Protestant Editor Backs Protest Against 'Objectionable Films'

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — The editor of a leading Protestant magazine yesterday called on all faiths to "get together in a positive program in support of the everyday deencies of American life and against Hollywood's steadily growing output of objectionable films."

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, said in an editorial prepared for the magazine that "we agree completely" with the findings of the Roman Catholic Episcopal Committee for Motion Pictures, Radio and Television.

The Catholic committee last Nov. 29 called for a nation-wide protest against what it called "morally objectionable" movies. It further went on record in support of the Roman Catholic Legion of Decency.

"Well, we do agree," the Poling editorial said. "We agree completely with the findings of this Roman Catholic committee. The statement of the committee is not an overstatement. In truth, it could have said much more than it did say. But it exercised a certain commendable restraint."

The Christian Herald editorial said it was "high time that Protestants, Catholics, Jews — indeed men and women of goodwill without regard to faith — make a concerted effort to stop the flow of objectionable films."

X-15 Gets Toughest Test Yet - 90-Degree Turn At Full Speed

EDWARDS AFB, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP) — Test pilot Scott Crossfield rammed the X-15 through its toughest test yet — a 90-degree turn with the rocket ship's big space engine wide open.

Crossfield was momentarily subjected to a pull of six times the force of gravity.

The Air Force said it was Crossfield's 13th and last flight in the sleek black Space Dart soon to be turned over to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for a series of tests designed to reach the edge of space. He has made two previous flights with the big new engine.

Despite an early burnout, Crossfield hit 1,914 mph in the tight turn yesterday, made at the comparatively low altitude of 60,000 feet. On its all-out zoom of 50 to 100 miles high early next year the X-15 is expected to reach 4,000 mph.

Crossfield stopped and restarted the powerful 57,000-pound thrust engine three times in the seven-minute flight.

Dropping away from the 45,000-foot-high B-52 mother ship, he climbed to 48,000 feet, reaching a speed of nearly 1,200 mph in less than a minute.

At this point he cut the engine for 30 seconds and restarted briefly; then a valve malfunction cut off the engine. He reignited with 70 per cent of power, cut back to half throttle and stopped the engine again for 65 seconds.

Restarting at 70 per cent throttle, he opened the engine wide for a few seconds before burnout came. Of the seven-minute flight 129 seconds were made under power.

Windsors

close to Scotland Yard said the Windsors were also hopeful of at last recovering some royal family heirlooms stolen in a daring burglary 14 years ago.

In 1945 a master burglar slipped into Ednam Lodge near rural Sunningham—where the Windsors were staying at guests of the Earl of Dudley—and got away with jewelry worth 20,000 pounds ($84,000) on today's market.

Most of the loot was royal heirlooms.

Among the pilfered property were pins and rings that once belonged to King Edward VII, grandfather of the Duke of Windsor.

Early this year Scotland Yard caught a burglar. The cops said he confessed to lifting the royal jewelry.

The man now is serving a seven-year sentence.

Informants say approaches have been made to him by friends of the Windsors.

LEND ME YOUR EARS:

Soldiers To Entertain 60 Orphans

A PARTY FOR 60 ORPHANS from Lucca, with the troops of Headquarters Company at Camp Darby as hosts, will bring to a climax on Jan. 7 the biggest Italo-American Yule season anybody in the U.S. Army's 8th Logistical Command can remember.

All told, some 700 to 800 orphans from the Tuscan area — from Pisa to Firenze — were guests at parties sponsored by troop units and clubs in the command during the holiday season. In most instances, gifts included not only confections and toys, but also more substantial presents in the form of clothing and shoes. Virtually every lira of the costs involved were contributed by members of the command.

Highlight of the command's holiday program was the giant Italo-American Christmas program in Tirrenia which drew a bi-national, obviously delighted audience of some 2,500 persons. Co-sponsors, the Pisa tourist office and the command, hailed the program as "genuine proof" of the high regard the Army command and the community hold for one another.

The last party of the Yuletide season — on Jan. 7 — will see orphans from Lucca's Orfanelli di San Pancrazio as guests for a big dinner in the troop dining hall, with gifts and movies to follow, and a soldier-donated 100,000-lira cash present to go to the orphan age to purchase comfort items for the children.

Happy Birthday . . .

... today to Mrs. S. K. Dehlavi, wife of Pakistan's Ambassador to Italy — to Italian actress Valentina Coriase — to Mrs. Pina De Martis — to Mrs. Paul A. Banker (wife of the Baltimore Sun correspondent) — to FAO Director-General B. R. Sen — and to sculptor Augusto Perez — and tomorrow (Monday) to Italian actress Giovanna Ralli — to Viv. Giel, another Italian actress — to Mrs. Corrado Pallenberg — to Italian tenor Tito Schipa — to film director Luigi Zampa — to publisher Giulio Einaudi — to Italian artist Renato Guttuso — to Maj. Bruce R. Clark and Maj. Richard G. Wahl (both of MAAG's Air Section) — and to Capt. Weston C. Sorenson (Executive Officer, Hqs. Co., 1st U.S. Army Missile Command, Vicenza).

Statue Replaced

Father Arthur Lattanzi, OSM, pastor of the Franciscan Father Sistine Church of St. Anthony in New York, today accepted the offer of Plato Skouras, producer of "Francis of Assisi," to replace the Christ Child figure stolen from the church.

The figure was taken from St. Anthony's early last week. It had been placed in a crèche in the church.

Skouras, on hearing of the theft, immediately cabled Father Lattanzi an offer to replace the Christ Child statue with one obtained in Rome. Father Lattanzi accepted the offer "gratefully." Following is his cable, received by Skouras:

"Deeply appreciate and gratefully accept your generous offer to replace stolen Christ Child. Explains story letter follows. May St. Francis guide your work in his behalf."

Skouras said in Rome yesterday that he would set out on a search for the most beautiful Christ Child statue he could find just as soon as Father Lattanzi's letter arrives.

RIDDLE OF THE "MISSING" KNITWEAR

Why is that you can buy perfectly beautiful Italian wool knitwear in America — then when you come to Italy you can't find any? Or you can find it — but it doesn't fit the American figure, and chances are, the styles aren't the kind you are accustomed to either? The reason is, the Italian knitwear which you buy in America is made in Italy especially for export consumption — according to American sizes, and in styles most wearable by Americans.

ALBERTO IMPORTS, a branch of the ALBERT ALFUS firm in New York, famous for their leather coats, has a showroom in Rome at 16 PIAZZA LUCINA where you can buy Italian knitwear as you like it — American sizes and models, with Italian workmanship at wholesale prices.

The three-piece suits are especially attractive — a pull-over and shirt topped by a cardigan or jacket — and their one-piece knit dresses are very light and easy to wear. The size range runs from 8 to 16.

The ALBERTO IMPORTS line is sold in over 600 of the best shops across the U.S. Hours: 9 a.m.-1 p.m., 3-7 p.m. Tel. 448.382
