LEND ME YOUR EARS:

Camogli's Two-Ton Pan Salvaged For Fish Fry

THE WORLD'S BIGGEST FRYING PAN was salvaged from 30 feet of salt water this week, causing some 5,000 fishing-village folk and an estimated 50,000 tourists to sigh with relief. The salvage operation means that the giant annual free fish fry at Camogli — a picturesque village on the Ligurian coast below Genoa — will take place tomorrow as usual.

Every year, on the second Sunday in May, Camogli puts on its unique festival, which involves the frying of five tons of fish in a pan that weighs nearly two tons and measures 25 feet in diameter. It fries a ton of fish at a time.

But this year it almost didn't fry any. Since roads leading into the tiny port are not big enough for trucks to haul in the pan by land, it is brought to Camogli's waterfront square by boat. Three days ago the boat capsized under the load. All Camogli mobilized to the rescue. Divers went down and hooked chains around the handle. And tugs and a crane finally hoisted the pan out.

A team of townswomen has been busily scouring it since. They say it'll be ready on time.

Mexico's Cannes Film Entry Sets Tequila Flowing

CANNES, May 8 (AP) — Riviera residents woke up in Mexico today — or at least it looked like it after a glance at the flag-decorated streets of Cannes.

The city was gaily decorated with hundreds of Mexican flags and large multicolor banners claiming "Viva Mexico . . . Viva Francia."

Huge arches of triumph, decorated with green, white and red — the Mexican colors — greeted automobilists even in the tiniest streets.

All that was advance publicity for tonight's showing of Mexico's entry—"La Cucaracha"—at the International Cannes Film Festival.

To climax the day the Mexican delegation has scheduled a lavish reception at the nearby Juan-les-Pins Casino tonight, with free-running "tequila," the famous Mexican beverage.

The reception will be the most magnificent, and probably the most expensive too, staged during this year's festival.

The Casino — which the Mexican delegation has rented for eight hours beginning at midnight — will be decorated with 500 green, white and red balloons and with 500 dozens of roses.

A total of 500 guests has been invited, including all the international stars now present in Cannes.

The guests will have ample supplies. Besides 500 bottles of "tequila," organizers have ordered 500 bottles of the finest champagne and they have stored enough grain salts and lemon slices to have all guests drink the "tequila" the Mexican way.

The show throughout the reception will be all-Mexican and this obliged the Casino orchestra to rehearse Mexican tunes through most of last night.

6 Windsor Castle Guardsmen Fired For Off-Duty Conduct

WINDSOR, England, May 19 (AP) —Six soldiers who guard Queen Elizabeth at historic Windsor Castle have been fired from the army for misbehaving off duty.

They were Irish Guardsmen — members of one of Britain's proudest regiments who, in bearskin and scarlet tunic, stood sentry at the castle gates.

Without Trial

The War Office announced they had been dismissed under a rarely invoked section of Queen's Regulations which permits a commanding officer to discharge a soldier without a court martial.

A spokesman said today: "These men were not dishonorably discharged. They were simply told—'Your services are no longer required'.

"It is a form of dismissal that carries the least stigma."

The dismissals follow a succession of civil court appearances in Windsor of guardsmen attached to the castle garrison.

Complaint

Local magistrates complained too many guardsmen were being hauled into court for drunkenness and assault. Then some leading town officials complained to the commanding officer.

The Queen is keenly interested in her guardsmen, particularly those on duty at her own gates. A month ago Prince Charles was introduced to some of the Irish Guards at Windsor.

Red Secret Police End Anti-Spy Meet In Moscow

LONDON, May 19 (AP) — Soviet secret police bosses yesterday wound up a national conference in Moscow by promising "strenuous counterblows" against enemy agents operating inside the Communist bloc.

Radio Moscow said the conference, debating future security tasks, pledged loyalty to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a special message saying:

"The consequences of the hostile activity of Beria (the executed Stalinist security chief) and his underlings in the state security bodies have been eliminated.

"Socialist legality has been fully restored."

The message was sent by the conference to the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party. It declared:

"The aggressive imperialist states have raised subversive activity against the USSR and the other countries of the Socialist camp to a level of state policy.

"The enemy is active and seeks to make use of every opportunity against us."

Crew Abandons Yacht Off Uruguayan Coasts

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 19 (AP) — The Argentine yacht Tiburon, on its way from Italy to Buenos Aires, was abandoned by its crew 35 miles off the Uruguayan coast in a storm yesterday.

The Uruguayan Maritime Department said the crew was picked up by the Dutch cargo ship "Abida." A strong wind and a heavy sea were believed to be the cause of the abandonment of the ship.

Burma Troops Attack Chinese Nationalists

RANGOON, May 18 (AP)—Burmese ground troops, supported by planes, have begun a big offensive against about 5,000 Chinese Nationalist guerrillas on Burma's Yunnan frontier, reports received here said.

Details were scanty but the reports said the guerrillas have suffered heavy casualties.
