OBITUARIES

Cardinal Wendel Dies In Munich

MUNICH, Jan. 2 (AP)—Official mourning was proclaimed for Bavaria yesterday following the death of Joseph Cardinal Wendell, 59, archbishop of Munich and Freising.

The Cardinal succumbed to a heart attack shortly after delivering his New Year's Eve sermon.

Funeral ceremonies for the dead Cardinal were scheduled for Thursday. Until then, his body will lie in state in the Munich Cathedral. The church will remain open night and day permitting faithfuls to say their prayers at the side of the dead.

Cardinal Wendel was born May 27, 1901, the son of a cabinet maker, at Blies Astel in the Saar area.

He attended public schools and a junior college in that village, and then studied at a monastery in Speyer on the Rhine. His formal education was completed at Rome's Collegium Germanicum. He was ordained a priest Oct. 30, 1927.

Raphael G. Stevens

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP) — A man whose daily anti-Fascist broadcasts to Italy during World War II helped to topple Mussolini from power died yesterday.

He was 77-year-old Col. Raphael Gaetano Stevens. Millions of Italians who listened in secret to his BBC broadcasts knew him as "Colonnello Buona Sera" (Colonel Good Evening).

STARS AND STRIPES — Thirteen stars and 48 stripes which stand for nearly two centuries of technical experience shine on the sleeves of 12 new Navy master chief and senior chief petty officers. The top graders gathered at the Chief Petty Officers' Club of the U. S. Naval Support Activity in Naples to celebrate their advancement to E-8 and 9. The chiefs are (l. to r.) Master Chief Kirk M. Young, and Senior Chiefs Truman W. Brown, Dominic Pacca, William H. Ledford, Henry F. Schlosser, Preston Tate, James W. Knight, Kirby P. Duncan, Wayne C. Lorance, Fred D. Hepner, Enrique M. Lucero, and Richard M. Green. Ten separate specialties and 48 gold "hash" marks are represented on the chiefs' sleeves—a mighty impressive array of talent and experience. (Official U. S. Navy photo)

Private TV Makes Debut In Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 2 (AP) — Toronto's first private television station went on the air last night without a hitch, and within two hours the station president proclaimed its first program — an 18-hour telethon — "a tremendous success."

Joel Aldred, president of CFTO-TV, said the initial program had raised $12,496 in pledges for the Ontario Society for Retarded Children by 11:15 p.m. — 75 minutes after the station began its broadcasting.

Aldred said the station went on the air on schedule, "with no mishap of any kind."

The first program came just eight months after the Board of Broadcast governors awarded the broadcasting licence to Baton Aldred Rogers Broadcasting Ltd., a company controlled by the Toronto Telegram.

Mt. Etna Still Active

CATANIA, Sicily, Jan. 2 (AP)—Mount Etna continued to erupt today, sending a slowly-moving stream of black lava through snow that covers its upper levels.

Tugboat Crew Drowns

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, Jan. 2 (AP)—The U.S. tugboat Phillip Arthur, rammed by the three empty oil barges she was towing, sank in the inter-coastal canal shortly before midnight and her crew of six went down with the tug.
