Tokyo Says Plotters Planned To Kill 30

TOKYO, Dec. 13 (AP) — Metropolitan Police said today 13 ultra-rightists accused of plotting against Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's government had planned to murder 30 or 40 persons.

Takeo Misu of the police Public Safety Section said the 13, arrested in pre-dawn raids yesterday, had plotted assassination of leading officers of trade unions and political parties, in addition to government officials.

Questioning of the 13 failed to turn up any indication they had firm plans for overthrowing Ikeda's government and setting up a right-ist regime, Misu said.

Police quoted the 13 as saying they feared Ikeda's government was incapable of preventing a Communist revolution in Japan.

Misu would not name the 30 or 40 leading Japanese allegedly selected for murder. Neither would he say if the 13 had selected a date to carry out their plot.

However, it was reported the plot was aimed at Socialist Party leaders and officials of the giant left-ist labor union, Sohyo. It also was reported the 13 had selected February as a target date.

Misu emphasized there was no indication that the 13, who included a former general in Japan's pre-war Imperial Army, had gained any support from members of the 240,000-man self-defense forces.

Police are sure they have the leaders of the plot, Misu said, and if more arrests follow it will involve "small people."

Kennedy Plans 2 Major Talks On Latin Trip

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — President Kennedy will cover 6,370 miles by plane, helicopter and automobile in his weekend trip to Venezuela and Colombia.

He also plans to work in half a dozen speeches in the tightly timed journey.

The two major addresses are to be delivered at an agrarian reform site outside Caracas, the Venezuelan capital, on Saturday afternoon, and at the San Carlos Palace in Bogota Sunday night.

Kennedy has allotted time for private talks with his hosts, President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela and President Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia.

In both South American nations, Kennedy will join in ceremonies dedicating projects of the Alliance for Progress — Kennedy's 10-year program for U.S. cooperation with Latin America in economic and social development.

Traveling with Kennedy will be a party of 10, including Mrs Kennedy and Chester Bowles, the President's special advisor on African, Asian and Latin American affairs.

YOUTH SHOT DEAD

CARACAS, Dec. 13 (AP) — A 17-year-old youth was shot dead and another wounded during an anti-American demonstration as Venezuela prepared to welcome President Kennedy.

The slain youth's mother said he was shot while police were dispersing some youths marching with banners which said "down with Kennedy." She said her son was not taking part in the demonstration.

Rocky Denies Plan To Resign

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP) — The New York Daily News said last night Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller probably won't run for re-election next year, and may re-sign in the spring, thus counting himself out as a potential 1964 Republican Presidential candidate.

The report was immediately denied by Rockefeller's press secretary, Robert McManus, who said:

"Neither one of these statements is true."

McManus said Rockefeller is scheduled to meet with the state's top GOP leaders late this month to map plans for his 1962 re-election campaign.

Italy Fund Drive For Algeria Set

Paolo Vittorelli, a member of the leftwing Italian Socialist Party, has announced that a fund-raising campaign to help the Algerian nationalists will soon be launched in Italy.

Vittorelli made his announcement at a debate on Algeria, sponsored by the Italian Committee for Peace in Algeria, AP reported.

Members of the committee include Socialists and a few Christian Democrats.

Representatives of the Algerian Provisional Government (FLN) participated in the debate.

Norstad Terms Defenses 'Inspiring But Inadequate'

PARIS, Dec. 13 (UPI) — Supreme Allied Commander in Europe Gen. Lauris M. Norstad today called steps taken by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations to meet the military requirements of the Berlin crisis "inspiring but inadequate."

Norstad told the Assembly of the Western European Union the necessary strengthening of NATO defenses would call for "sacrifices of time, effort and money and there is no way out of this."

He said by the end of the year there would be 25 divisions in the central NATO region with the "effectiveness of 22 or 23 divisions."

Norstad said this represented a 25 per cent increase in the central region's defenses since last summer, which he called "a substantial, significant improvement."

Norstad spoke before the WEU Assembly as the NATO Council of Ministers began a three-day session here.

Norstad said that following the Berlin crisis NATO governments took "politically difficult steps," such as increasing budgets, freezing personnel on military duty, and lengthening terms of service.

He said he was "moved and inspired" by this, "but this was inadequate."

Norstad listed as NATO accomplishments during the past year the establishment of the Baltic approaches Command (Baltap), the coordination of Central European air defenses, and efforts to realize the "NATO fire brigade" highly mobile force.

"We have not made the progress in the organization and development of this force that I would have liked," Norstad said.

Tshombe Calls For Total War Against UN

it's not because we will have lost a burnt ground that we will have lost the war. War will continue in our cities, in the bush."

Thant Emissaries

Acting Secretary-General U Thant today said he had sent two emissaries to the Congo to seek a peaceful reconciliation between the Leopoldville government and secessionist Katanga.

This was disclosed amid reports that Tshombé had dispatched an appeal to President Kennedy seeking his intervention to end the fighting in Katanga.

Thant told British Ambassador Sir Patrick Dean in a letter that UN Undersecretary Ralph Buncbe and Robert Gardiner of Ghana have been sent to Leopoldville as negotiators.

Dean and U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson called on Thant earlier in the day. A UN spokesman said Dean had requested the letter from Thant at the conference.

Appeal To Kennedy

Kennedy did receive an intervention plea today from Tshombé and prepared to dispatch a prompt reply.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the President planned to send a message through U.S. Ambassador Edmund Gullion tonight to Premier Cyrille Adoula of the Central Congo government.

Ten Baluba refugees were killed when Katangese troops mortared their camp on the outskirts of Elisasethville today, a UN spokesman said. Six Balubas were seriously and 24 slightly wounded.

Swedish UN troops guarding the camp attacked the mortar positions and the Katangese withdrew, the spokesman said.

The spokesman "categorically denied" Belgian charges and press reports that UN forces have shelled the center of the Katanga capital.

The only UN attacks on civilian installations, the spokesman said, were an air strike in the Lido Hotel, which was held by Katangese forces, shelling of a golf course on a ridge from which Katangese lobbed mortar shells on UN positions, and an attack on a stadium from which Katangese fired on UN positions around a refugee camp.

The spokesman denied that the UN ha shelled Tshombé's palace.

Some 1,800 Ethiopian UN soldiers landed in Elisabéthville in 20 cargo planes yesterday, Katangese government sources reported.

Planes also brought military equipment and Tshombé's government is expecting a UN offensive within 48 hours.

The Katangese government denied that any of their troops ever held the so-called new hospital, Elisabethville's tallest building, located between the UN headquarters and the University. The UN had claimed they captured the building from Katangese Gendarmes who had used it as an observation post. Katangese claimed the building was abandoned by civilians a week ago.

UN jets attacked the southern suburbs yesterday. Casualties and damages are not yet known.

APPEAL TO POPE

BRUSSELS, Dec. 14 (AP) — Belgian Senate Speaker Paul Struye today cabled Pope John XXIII urging him to intervene for a ceasefire in Katanga.

Struye drew the Pope's attention to the fact that innocent civilians were victims of the fighting and that the civilian population of Katanga included 15,000 Belgians.

to give NATO its own nuclear striking power.

One West German source told newsmen: "We expected the Americans to back up our statement, but we never expected the backing to be so strong."

The NATO ministers again chewed over the old arguments dividing them on the complex Congo-Katanga problem.

The United States, Britain and several other members of the alliance reportedly are attempting to bring the rival factions in the Congo together. They want a meeting arranged between Premier Cyrille Adoula of the Central Congo government and President Moise Tshombe of the breakaway Katanga province.

Another major development was Portuguese Foreign Minister Frano Nogueiras' bitter complaint about lack of NATO support for his country in Angola and Goa.

NATO STUDY

(From Combined Dispatches)

PARIS, Dec. 14 — Ministers of the 15 North Atlantic countries today authorized far-reaching studies on how to make NATO a nuclear power and to equip the alliance's shield forces with medium-range ballistic missiles, West German sources said.

This NATO conference decision was said to have been taken at the suggestion of West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss.

Britain Warns UN Threatened

vince as large as France on its hands and no means at all of governing it."

The gulf between Britain and the United States over Katanga, he said, was not as wide as it had been portrayed. "We are in close contact with the Americans at every level and our views are coming all the time closer together."

EARLIER DEBATE

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Edward Heath, Britain's Deputy Foreign Minister, asserted today the state of affairs in Katanga threatens "the whole future of the United Nations as an organization."

Addressing the House of Commons in support of the Conservative government's demand for a cease-fire by UN and Katanga military forces, Heath declared:

"The argument that United Nations actions should be accepted, right or wrong, is not one which the government can accept.

"One is entitled to support a policy, but to watch its implementation with a critical eye.

"It seems that those who most care about the future of the UN should be those who should most seek to find an appropriate way of controlling the authority and the power with which it is invested."

Heath insisted that the government "has followed a policy which, although it may be criticized, has certainly been consistent from the beginning of the operation."

He said it was never Britain's derstanding that the mission of forces was to integrate the breakaway State of Katanga with the of the Congo by forcible arms.

World Unites In Hope For Peace In 1962

New Year nations live with the new hope that "there will be undertaken efficient steps in the cause of liquidation of centers of military danger."

Kennedy in his message termed the past year "a troubled one" and expressed hope that 1962 "will strengthen the foundations of world peace and will bring an improvement in the relations between our countries, upon which so much depends."

MANY AMERICANS went to their churches to pray for peace on the eve of the 1,962nd year since the birth of the Prince of Peace. Others tried to forget their troubles for a night and live for the present amid revelry and merrymaking.

In Rome, Italians gathered crockery from dishes to toilets in keeping with an old custom. They threw the junk out into the street at midnight — symbolizing the discard of the old year.

In a more serious mood, Italians gathered at St. Peter's Square in the Vatican to receive Pope John XXIII's last public blessing of 1961.

In Japan, thousands of temple bells rang out the old year as part of a religious tradition practiced for hundreds of years.

Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda said he will do his utmost in 1962 to help underdeveloped nations, especially in Southeast Asia. He said he "keenly felt the need" during a good will tour of Southeast Asian countries this year.

RUSSIANS CELEBRATE New Year's Eve as the biggest of the non-patriotic holidays. Comrades exchange gifts, while children receive them from the Soviet, non-religious version of Santa Claus — Grandfather Frost.

Between the merrymakers on both sides of the Iron Curtan stands the Berlin wall as a grim reminder of the differences that still separate mankind. Edgy police on both sides of the wall have forbidden noisy fireworks.

East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht called the closing of the Berlin border "a great victory in the fight for peace."

Across the wall in West Berlin, Mayor Willy Brandt assured citizens they will remain free in the coming year, saying:

"We can rely on the words of our friends. We certainly will not be saved from new strains, but we will preserve peace and help to secure freedom."

In Taipei, President Chiang Kai-shek said his Chinese Nationalist government must effect total mobilization for recovery of the Communist-held China mainland. He urged the people of the mainland to rise up against the Communists.

On the mainland, Communist China's official newspaper, Peiping Peoples Daily, said in an editorial of New Year's greeting that the situation is "very favorable" for construction of true communism in China.

CUBAN PRIME Minister Fidel Castro received messages of congratulation from Communist Chinese leaders on the third anniversary of his revolution.

President Liu Shao-chi and Premier Chou-En-lai messaged a warning to watch out for the United States along with their congratulations to Castro and Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos.

In Britain, merrymakers were hampered by a heavy blanket of snow and ice that covered three-quarters of the country and brought chaos to roads. Hundreds were reported snowbound in marooned trucks, tourist buses and cars in the northern half of England and throughout Scotland.

day against Barraks No. 3 in the garrison town of Beja, about 125 miles southeast of Lisbon.

By 8 a.m. the barracks had been encircled by government troops and police and then moved in. Again no details of the battle were available but it was in this fighting that the Army Undersecretary was killed and leader Army Capt. Joao Maria Gomes wounded and seized.

FOLLOWING recapture of the Beja barracks by the government troops, a general state of alert was proclaimed nationwide under which all troops and police were recalled to their stations on standby orders. The number of troops involved was not disclosed. The alert was strictly a military one and had no effect on public services or activities. Lisbon tonight was a completely quiet capital, and other major Portuguese cities also were reported quiet.

One of the dead rebels was identified as David da Silva Abreu, who escaped from Caxias prison near Lisbon about six weeks ago with nine other prisoners.

One man captured was Capt. Eugenio Oscar Filipe, who was caught this afternoon with three civilians about 170 kilometers south of Beja.

Reliable sources in Lisbon said the government had been tipped several hours before the attack that some move had been planned against it. On the basis of this information security measures already had been taken, including the mounting of a strong guard at Beja airport.

Chet Baker Ordered To Leave Italy Today

LUCCA, Jan. 1 (AP) — American jazz trumpeter Chet Baker, who served a 16-month jail sentence here on charges of smuggling narcotics, has been ordered to leave Italy by midnight tomorrow.

Baker, who has lived in this north central Italian city at a hotel since his release from jail Dec. 15, was called to local police headquarters to receive the order. The order came from the Ministry of Interior in Rome.

looking Beirut.

Held for more than 12 hours yesterday by the captains and their allies were Col. Youseff Sameip, Chief of Staff of the Lebanese Army; Abduwkader Chehab, Commander of the Beirut Garrison; Michael Hawfal, Chief of Gendarmeries; Maj. Tewfik Galbout, Chief of Security, and four other high officers.

Colonel Sameip, Chehab and Hawfal at first were taken to the rooms of the PPS leaders in the village of Deik Elmahdi. Their captors then forced Sameip to telephone the Army ordering it not to attack their house. This alerted the Army and forced the captors to try to flee with their hostages.

They were in a car of PPS Chief Saadeh at the crossroad of the coast, near Lebanon's famed Casino when stopped by a roadblock and fled.

Another captain, Numir Sardoux of the Presidential Guard, got a gun hidden in his clothes and shot his way free when his captors stopped to refuel their car.

In the wake of the attempt the Lebanon press rallied fully behind the regime of President Fuad Chehab, condemning the coup as foolhardy and lamentable.

ducted with quiet dignity, he could be flamboyant too. He introduced Lily St. Cyr's G-string as evidence that she was recently dressed after a raid on a burlesque show.

Giesler, a native of Wilton Junction, Iowa, began his law career as a $25-a-month office boy in the of a $25-a-month office boy in the of Los Angeles attorney Earl Rogers, famed for his mastery in criminal cases. At the same time he studied law at the University of Southern California.

After passing the California Bar, Giesler became Rogers' associate for 17 years, his first big case being the defense of the great lawyer Clarence Darrow on bribery charges.

But the case which established Giesler's career was his defense of Alexander Patages in 1929 when the showman was charged with the rape of a 17-year-old girl. Thereafter he became a celebrity in his own right, and the defender of celebrities.

HE IS SUPPOSED to have collected $65,000 from Chaplin, and $50,000 for his services to Flynn.

Among his most publicized cases were the marijuana case against Mitchum, and the shooting of agent Jennings Lang by producer Walter Wanger.

Earlier this year Giesler published memoirs of his headlined cases in "The Jerry Giesler Story," recalling the dramatic and humorous event of his own life.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth, a son, Michael, and two daughters, Jerry Lee Wright, and Mildred Lee Donnelly, the latter by a former marriage.

supporting Holland in the New Guinea issue that "they have committed a mistake at the expense of losing the sympathy of the 96 million Indonesian people who form a powerful potential in Southeast Asia."

Nasution claimed his Army is ready to invade New Guinea "disregarding risk of starvation, the risk of hardship, even the risk of death."

DUTCH ACTION

THE HAGUE, Jan. 1 (UPI) — The opposition Dutch Labor Party has decided to call for a new coalition Cabinet of all parties to negotiate bilaterally with Indonesia for a settlement of the dispute over West New Guinea, leading Labor parliamentarians disclosed.
