Lava Nears Crowded Temple; Bali Toll 1,264

(From Combined Dispatches)

JAKARTA, March 23—Hot lava from the erupting Mount Agung Volcano on the island of Bali was today advancing on five villages and threatening the lives of 1,200 people playing in one village temple, civil defense headquarters announced here today.

The eruption, which began on March 17, has already killed 1,264 people, it was announced yesterday.

Today's announcement said the village temple at Besakih, in which 1,200 people were praying, was collapsing.

Hot ash and stones had been falling over 50 miles from Agung's crater, while communications with the town of Karangasem, on the island's eastern tip, had been completely severed by the lava.

An urgent request for rice and helicopters went out from the capital city of Denpasar Saturday.

Helicopters, requested from military authorities in east Java, were to be used to ferry out people stranded in pockets surrounded by hot lava streams to the northeast.

'Arabian Nights' At Nice

NICE, March 23 (Reuter) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia, whose visit here for convalescence made world headlines when his personal plane crashed in the Alps, has brought a touch of "Arabian Nights" splendor to this famous Riviera resort.

It is reported here that trunks containing his wardrobe, his court jewels and gold and silver tableware, were lost in the Comet airliner crash that also killed 18 people.

But his setting remains magnificent.

With his retinue of more than 100, including his harem and his hefty, dagger-carrying bodyguard, King Saud occupies the entire top floor of the luxurious Negresco Hotel overlooking the Promenade des Anglais — at a daily cost of $2,000 for bed and breakfast alone.

Despite his reported stomach trouble, the king seems to enjoy a good appetite. A typical dinner in the royal suite this week include 60 roast pigeons, a whole roast ram, specially-scented dumplings, three different kinds of soup,veal cutlets with rice, and ice cream.

As alcohol is prohibited by the Koran, only mineral water was served.

The king's floor in the hotel is sealed off from the rest by a partition on the staircase leading to the royal apartments.

King Saud plans to spend two weeks here following his medical treatment at Lausanne, in Switzerland.

should be avoided possibly by a national charter combining all political organizations or the formation of an Algerian-style National Liberation Front.

(5) That the federal state should adopt socialism as its economic and social pattern.

(6) That the federation should be open to Algeria and Yemen, possibly with strong military, political, economic and cultural pacts.

Within this framework, the newspaper said, the UAR, Iraq and Syria have agreed to draw up separate blueprints. Each plan would then be discussed in Cairo, probably Monday or Tuesday. Then a unified plan would be voted on by plebiscites in the three countries prior to formal proclamation of the federation.

Kennedy

release the brake of wartime tax rates which are now holding down growth at the very time we need more growth to create more jobs.

In talking bluntly about the darkening employment outlook Kennedy appealed for approval of his proposed three-year tax cut of $10,300,000,000—the first and most necessary step, he said, toward solving the employment problem.

Kennedy said his administration's "No. 1 domestic concern" is jobs "for the tidal wave of men and women now flooding our labor market." He said it stems from a combination of the revolution in agriculture, the flood of postwar babies reaching job-seeking age, and "labor-saving automation." He added: "Unless we step up our rate of growth—unless we create a supply of jobs that is more equal to the demand—our rate of unemployment will steadily and swiftly climb to the recession levels of 7 per cent, even without a recession."

A jobless rate of 7 per cent could compare with the February level of 6.1 per cent, the highest in more than a year.

Boxmann

Walter Rodgers, a wholesale rug salesman in Altadena, Calif. She was known to be planning to leave her career in a few years to be able to devote all her time to her family.

On the morning of March 15, her bullet-riddled body, clad in a red nightgown, was found in a pool of blood in her fourth-floor room at the Berrini-Bristol hotel at the foot of Via Veneto. She had been shot four times.

Boxmann, who had a room on the same floor, was "rushed" to a hospital. Police say he killed her, then turned the gun against himself.

For two days he was semi-conscious and doctors feared that he would go blind from the wound or suffer brain damage. But he gained strength, and doctors said he would survive. And though he insisted that he could no longer see from his right eye, physicians reported that his sight was unimpaired.

To police questioners Boxmann gave confused and contradictory answers, first saying he had bought the gun in Frankfurt, Germany, then denying that he owned a gun.

He said he was a bachelor but authorities later said he was married.

Several days ago he was moved to a neuro-psychiatric clinic for mental examinations. It was after that the bronchial complications set in.

Boiler Blast Kills Three

SAN JOSE, Calif., March 23 (AP) — A bomb-like boiler explosion blew a gaping hole in J. C. Penney's store Friday, leaving three persons dead in a maze of rubble and at least 71 injured. Police arrested Ricardo Mello, 27, a boiler maintenance man who was fired less than five hours before the explosion.

Zermatt

Local health officials said they were certain the disease was brought to Zermatt last month by an Italian construction worker returning from his home in southern Italy. The disease, an intestinal infection, then spread quickly among inhabitants and visitors, apparently through the local water system. The original carrier has not been named.

The Swiss authorities said a complete quarantine of Zermatt would not help to stop the spread of the disease, and, in any case, would violate Swiss law.

The busy week will wind up Saturday at 7 p.m. with a grand ball for which the U.S. Sixth Fleet Orchestra will play. The winners of the photo contest will be announced at the ball. Tickets for all the events can be obtained from the secretary of the USIS.

Actress Into Author

American actress Maria Iannella, who has become a star of Italian theater on both sides of the Atlantic, will be honored today at a reception at 5:30 p.m. at the Salone di Casa Giordani, 11 Via Mario Romagnoli, by the International Organization of Citizens of the World for her work in bringing about a closer friendship between Italy and the U.S. Miss Iannella, who mastered the Italian at Brooklyn College and Columbia and who is especially well-known for her portrayal of St. Joan, will be honored as both actress and author; her book "La Madonna Vista da un'Attrice" has just been published in Italian. She has already been awarded the Italian Lettere d'Oro and the American Christopher Award for her work. Among the guests expected today are Minister of Spectacles Alberto Folchi, Vittorio Gassman and Rossano Brazzi. At the reception, Francesco Casadio, editor of Libera Stampa, will announce the dates and theaters for a tour she will begin the week after Easter. Scheduled plays include Gabriele d'Annunzio's "La Gioconda," "Jeanne d'Arc," and "Romeo and Juliet."

Miss IANNELLA

CONSIDERED BY MANY CRITICS to be the greatest German painter of the past 20 years, Willi Baumeister is well-represented by works from all his different periods at the retrospective exhibition which has just opened at the Medusa Gallery on Via del Babuino. The show includes 20 works by the artist, dating from 1922 to 1955 shortly before his death. Shown above is his "Butterfly," painted in 1955 with oil on masonite.

Vatican Attacks German Play For 'Calumnies' Against Pope

VATICAN CITY, March 30 (AP) — The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano said yesterday that a new German play makes "monstrous insinuations" in depicting Pope Pius XII as unwilling to try thwarting Nazi persecution of Jews. Under a Berlin dateline, L'Osservatore said the West German public deplored "the unfounded calumnies" against the wartime Pontiff in the Rolf Hochhuth play "Der Stellvertreter" (The Vicar Of Christ).

The 31-year-old German playwright has brought upon himself criticism from both Roman Catholics and Protestants, the Vatican daily said.

"The entire world knows of Pope Pius' efforts for peace and the humanization of war," said the newspaper.

"Everybody recalls the multiple aid the Vatican gave to persecuted Jews, as was recognized at the end of the war by the spontaneous acclamation of the majority of Israelites."

L'Osservatore Romano said that if Pope Pius failed to oppose "more valid measures against racial violence, it was because of Nazi brutality ... as (the measures) would have worsened the situation of Jews and Catholics" in Nazi Germany.

Concluded L'Osservatore:

"It is true that it would be comfortable and cynical to single out a scapegoat 'outside the walls' and blame him for crimes committed by the Nazis."

"If Hochhuth's thesis is true, then Pope Pius and not Hitler himself, Eichmann and the SS were responsible for Auschwitz, Dachau, Buchenwald, Mauthausen and all the other atrocities perpetrated in the name of a devilish regime in every European country ..."

"The monstrosity of such insinuations knows no limits. It is a beautiful way to 'overcome the past'."

Italian Censors Approve Revised 'Queen Bee'

(By the Associated Press)

The movie "The Queen Bee," generally praised by critics who have seen it privately, yesterday got a green light from Italy's government censors for public showings — under another name, "A Modern Story."

The Italian movie, starring French actress Marina Vlady, is about a woman who makes a drone of her husband. After she becomes pregnant, he dies.

Censors originally banned the movie in its entirety, saying it was offensive. The producers appealed, but the censors upheld their ban.

The producers then cut a few scenes from the film and changed a bit of the dialogue, but left the story intact. They re-submitted the film to censors under a new name as a new movie.

Last night authorities disclosed the censors had approved the new version.

RIDDLE OF THE "MISSING" KNITWEAR

Why is it that you can buy perfectly beautiful Italian wool knitwear in America — then when you come to Italy you can't find any? Or you can find it — but it doesn't fit the American figure, and chances are, the styles aren't the kind you are accustomed to either. The reason is the Italian knitwear which you buy in America is made in Italy especially for export consumption — according to American sizes, (from 8 to 16), and in styles most wearable by Americans. There is a showroom in the center of Rome.

ALBERTO IMPORTS
